Student Life Is A Beginning In

Student life includes what happens inside the classroom, during extracurricular activities and on weekends. On a regular school day we go through the periods either anticipating or dreading what is about to happen to us. We look forward to our favorite classes, study halls and lunch. We dread all of the major tests, seminars and term papers that are required.

Student life includes being kicked out of the library by Miss Casciola for two weeks, being sent notices from the attendance office for study halls we did not cut, and all of the hassles of passes we must use to get ourselves in and out of classes.

Student life is also a lot of fun things like going to football and basketball games and then to Friendly's afterwards. It's going shopping and meeting a group of friends at Exton Mall. It's working at the Girls' Leaders car wash at Central Penn. Finally it is graduating from Great Valley to begin to explore new possibilities.

Becoming Independent

Our Country Begins Its Third Century With

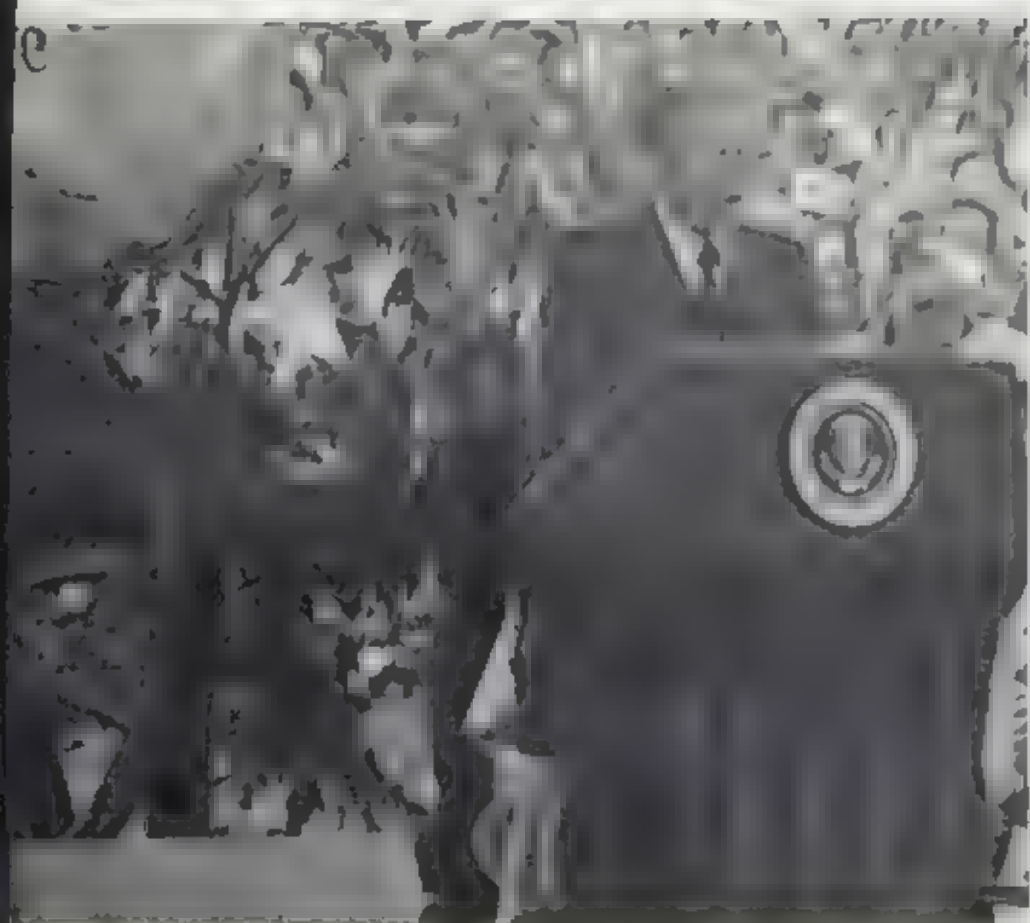

Following the celebration of America's Bicentennial, 1977 marks a new beginning for the United States. After leading the country out of many difficulties, Gerald Ford left the presidency. We start our next one hundred years with a new President who represents a different point of view from those of the past. Jimmy Carter is a peanut farmer Democrat from the Deep South who is definitely very different from any President to be elected in quite some time. He promotes a casual lifestyle by wearing jeans and flannel shirts and promises fireside chats like those of F.D. R.

In the winter of 1976-1977 there was a major natural gas shortage throughout the United States. This was, in part, caused and intensified by extreme cold temperatures in even the southernmost states. Governor Milton Shapp was forced to close all Pennsylvania schools for three days in late January in order to conserve fuel. While students got a winter vacation, unemployment rose as many companies were forced to lay off workers. The effects of this winter's hardships will be felt far into the future. The new administration, severe winter weather and fuel crisis will help us develop a new vision and direction in years to come.

Mr. Eugene W. Baldwin, Jr.

Activities Are A Beginning Toward

In high school students begin to understand themselves and how to interrelate with other people. Students can achieve this by various means. We may become involved in activities such as sports and clubs. By joining clubs we can learn how to do things for other people. Clubs usually have fund-raising for needy causes or they set up activities to obtain money for their own benefit. All activities are learning experiences. When taking part in sports, students learn how to work as a team as well as be competitive for our own benefit.

Great Valley has a wide variety of clubs and sports to join which offer diversified activities. Among these activities are the Ski Club's annual trip to Vermont and International Friendship Club's International Weekend where exchange students from area schools visit Great Valley.

Our activities help to learn to organize our time and assume responsibility. Running a dance or a charity drive puts us in touch with the community outside the school and furthers our ability to relate with others as we begin our adult life.

Assuming Adult Responsibilities

Students Begin Each Day Learning

Academics can be divided into two aspects - the tangible and the intangible. The tangible includes the faculty and classroom activities. Our teachers affect us in many different ways as they guide us through the subject areas that make up our daily schedules. Some are stimulating; others merely routine, but we learn from all of them. They are the human part of our education. Classroom activities ranging from ninth grade required courses to tenth grade World Cultures term papers to eleventh grade health classes to senior physics and philosophical problems are all facets of our education. All of it helps us to begin to cope with the future. For some of us it is a basis on which to build our further education while for others it is a background with which to enter the "real world".

The intangible part of academics is the learning process which is what goes on in the heads of students and teachers. We can not touch it or see it but it is equally important for it is the way we begin to use and develop the knowledge we receive daily as we begin to be independent.

For The Future

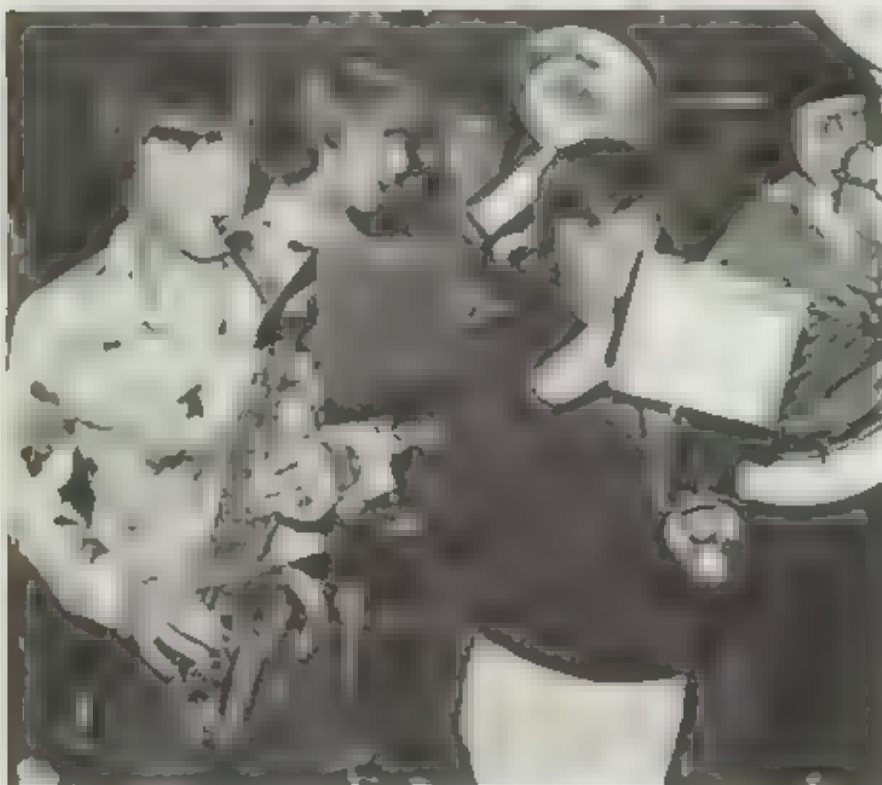

A Very Special Person

Dedication is the most appropriate word for this man. It embodies the total feelings that he has had for the Senior Class for the past four years when he began the task of sponsoring it. His enthusiasm and hard work has led the class through four Spirit Week competitions providing the motivation to walk away with the victory jug every time. His support during dances and fund-raising activities has enabled the Senior Class to become a success. Through his organization and direction of both the Variety Show and Smorgasbord, the costs of Commencement and the Prom were greatly deferred. His efforts to formulate a feasible plan for a class trip only help to support his continuous dedication as a class sponsor. After four years of happiness as well as frustration, the Senior Class has become very close to Mr. Diorka.

This same perseverance and determination have given Mr. Diorka a winning track team. As head coach of Great Valley's track teams, he built them into champions. Spring and Winter track have placed high in the Ches-mont standings under his direction as a coach. Mr. Diorka's Cross Country team rose to the top of Ches-Mont in 1975 and continued on to Districts and States both years. This record is a credit to his coaching ability.

The Senior Class could never thank Mr. Diorka enough for all the things that he has done for them. He truly made their years at Great Valley interesting and worthwhile. And so to show their appreciation, the 1977 Musket is dedicated to Mr. Michael J. Diorka.

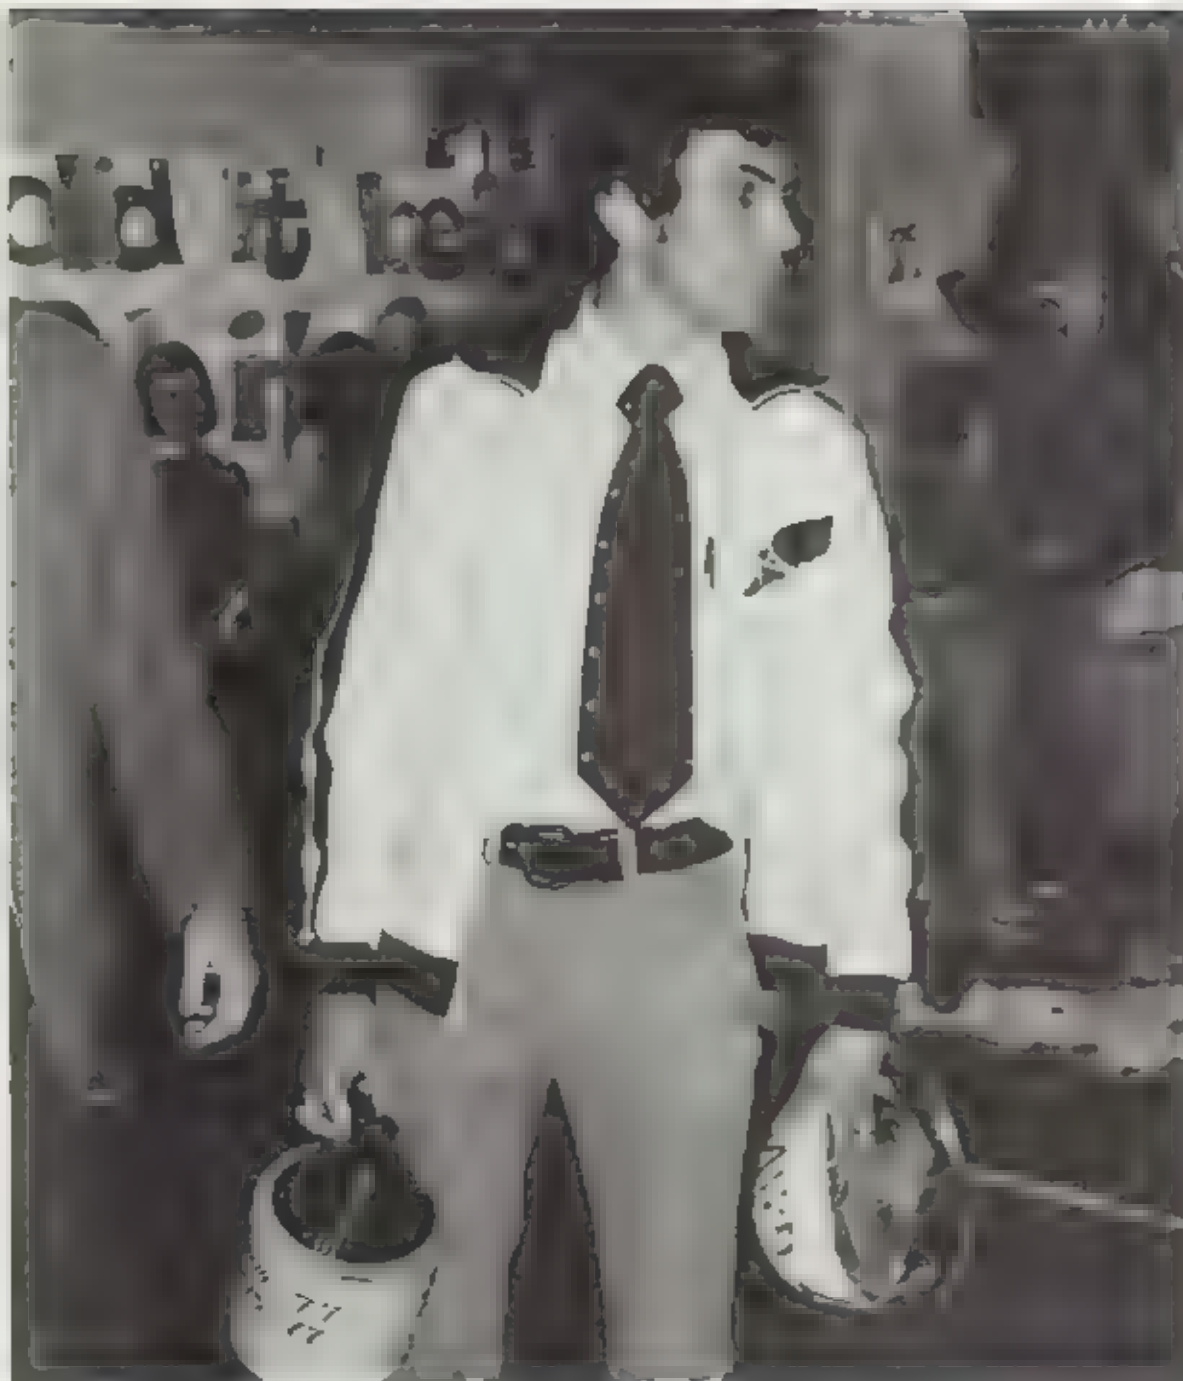

the future and all that we can be

Class Advisor Really Special

Demanding.

This is the one word that describes Mr. Diorka. He demands a great deal of himself and demands a lot from the students he works with. He is one of the new teachers that is well known by all four grade levels at Great Valley. Some hate him, many love him; but all have a deep respect for the demanding teacher who is also the track coach, and the four year advisor for the Class of 1977.

Mr. Diorka went all out as advisor for the Class of 77. Beginning in our freshman year he placed in us the desire to excel in all our endeavors. In our freshman year at Diorka's prodding, we sold more candy bars than any other class in previous years; and it continued that way through our senior year. No matter how small the event Mr. Diorka pushed the class to get orders for more magazines or to sell more tickets. He made sure the event was always a success.

The Class of 1977 never disappointed Mr. Diorka. We achieved all the goals he set before us. One of the greatest accomplishments was the winning of Spirit Week for four consecutive years. Though everyone said it couldn't be done, Mr. Diorka never voiced a doubt. Mr. Diorka deserves many thanks for all the invaluable help he has given our class. We really appreciate everything he has done for us.

Officers Help Make Year A Success

The senior class officers are (L. TO RT) O. J. Hoard, President, Dave Rowland, Treasurer, Joan Fosnacht, Secretary and Mary Beth McLean, Vice-President.

Joan Fosnacht is always laughing about something.

O. J. Hoard does his homework with Ken Liskey

In the senior year there are more activities than any other year of high school and being a senior class officer is a time-consuming and difficult job. The officer's meetings began as soon as school started. The first fund-raiser to put together was the fashion show. It started the ball rolling for a successful year. The officers often met with their advisor, Mr. Diorka to plan an ingenious strategy that helped the class win Spirit Week. Other activities that the senior class had were the talent show, smorgasbord, and the donkey basketball game. The seniors sponsored the District Wrestling Tournament also. The parents of the officers co-ordinated the graduation party. Though the work was hard, all the officers enjoyed their job and did superb work making the activities a success.

Seniors Show Class In Fashion Show

The senior class fashion show presented on Oct. 19, was a smash success. The year's theme was "The Best of Fall and Winter". It featured every type of clothing from warm skiwear to formal evening attire. Mary Beth McLean was the coordinator of the fashion show and found outfits for the 55 seniors who were modeling in the show. These outfits were donated for the evening by various stores in the area. Many practice sessions were held so that the final show went smoothly. Announcers for the first half were O. J. Hoard and Jane Reeside. There was a short break for refreshments, then Tom Warren and Mary Ann Russell commented the second part of the show. There was a large audience and the senior class raised a grand profit of over 800 dollars.

Talent Abounds In Variety Show

For great entertainment this year's Variety Show couldn't be beat. It was held in the auditorium on April 28 at 8 o'clock. Mr. Czech organized the show and did a terrific job. The Variety Show was aptly named because there was certainly plenty of variety. The acts ranged from a magic show by Les Folio to a "Jam with the Superband" dance. There were many singing and instrumental acts. Plenty of comedy was provided by various senior boys in different skits. A strip tease act was put on by Ian Mansmann while Tom Warren played the kazoo. The announcers for the evening were Scott Woolford, Tom Warren, and Eric Rudolph. A brief ballet (complete with tutus) was put on by some of the male teachers of the school. The customary finale was led by Mr. Czech and the senior boys. Mr. Czech played the guitar and everyone sang, "Good old Mountain Dew..."

...But oh those nights!!

The boys sang, "I'm a lumberjack and I m okay"

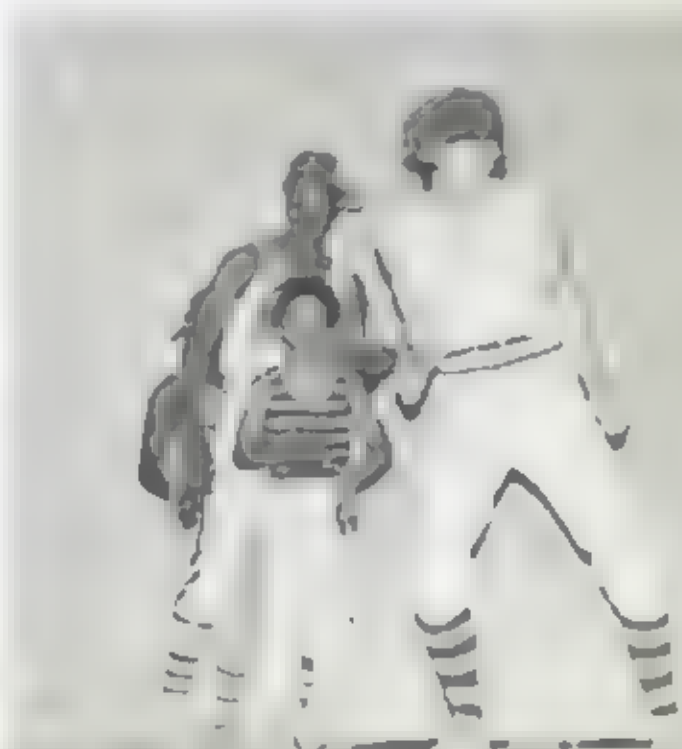

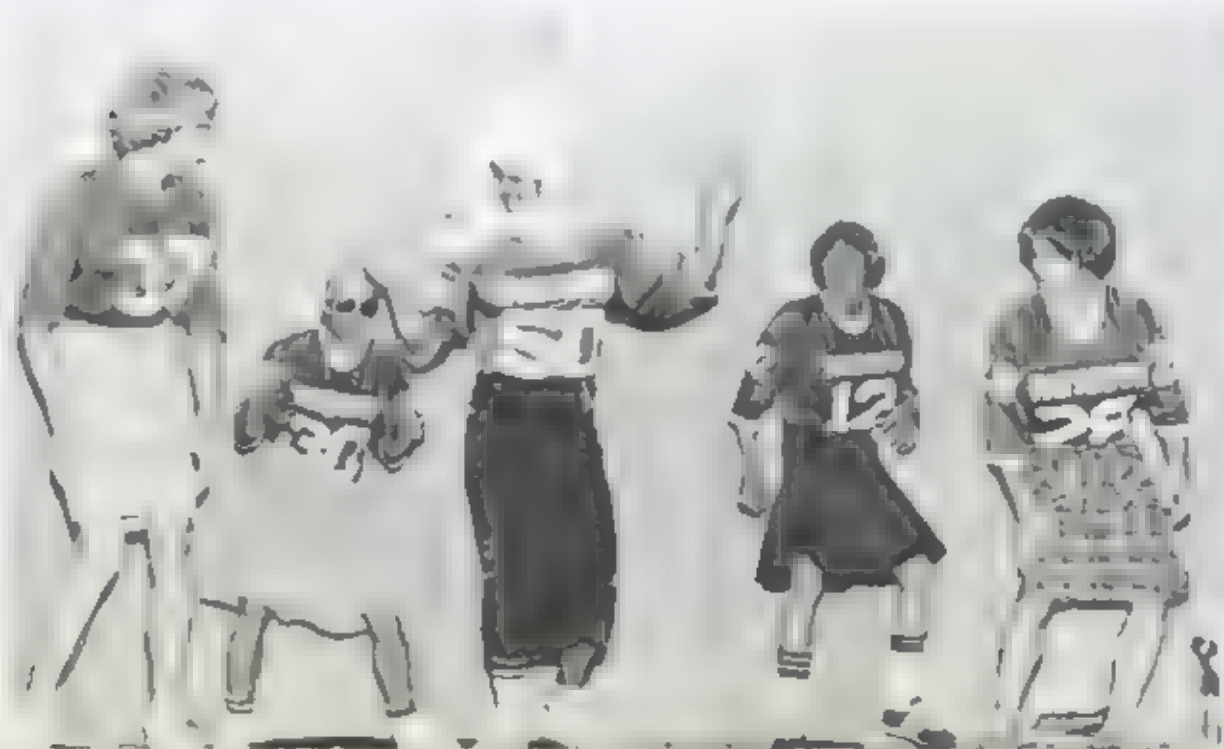

Ian Mansmann wiggled his hips as he strutted across the stage.

Ian obviously doesn't strip often as he had to struggle with the hook.

"A Touch Of Class"

"A Touch of Class" was the theme for the Class of 1977's Senior Prom. And class it had. The prom was held on the evening of the Annual Senior Award Assembly, June 10. Something new was added this year as the prom was held at the Brandywine Hilton in Delaware. This was the first time Great Valley ever had a prom outside of Pennsylvania.

Great music was provided by "Desire" and the dance floor was always crowded with enthusiastic dancers. A large buffet dinner, including such delicacies as Seafood Newburg, Beef Stroganoff and Chicken Cacciatore, was served until 10 o'clock. There was plenty for all and no one went away hungry. Souvenirs came in the form of a charm necklace for girls and a keychain for the boys. Fancy dinner menus were also at each place setting. With or without souvenirs it was a night all will remember.

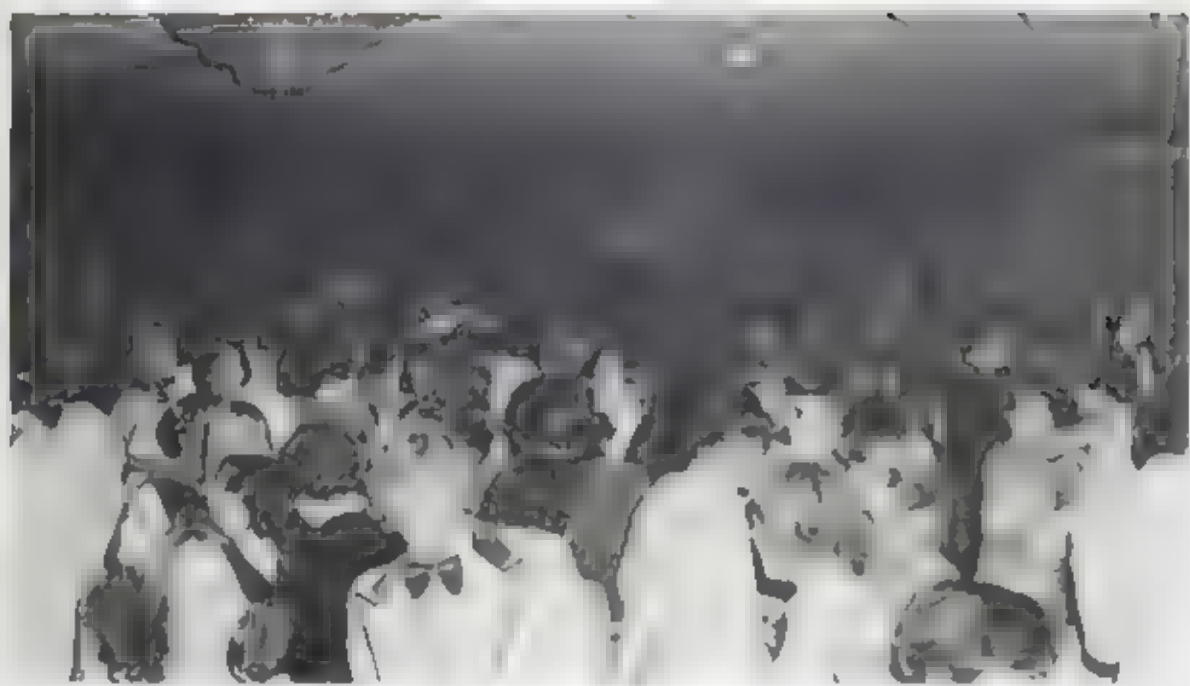

Allan Zaccarda and Cheryl Eitel enter the Hilton with Barbara Mealand and Dave Hunt, looking fresh and eager for the prom.

The large buffet served looked almost too good to eat. Almost.

The dance floor was filled with enthusiastic dancers for most of the night.

An obviously happy couple.

'Desire' provided the enjoyable music for the evening.

All forms of dancing could be seen

A crowd gathered there to cheer two dancers on.

Dancing wasn't all that went on.

A Beginning And An End

Proud relatives and friends make up the crowd of spectators at graduation.

Commencement--the word means beginning but somehow it also feels like the end. This was the end of Great Valley's Class of 1977. June 20, 1977 will always be remembered as the beginning of a new stage of life for this class.

Graduation went smoothly until interrupted by a downpour that had been threatening all evening. Many had to receive their diplomas in the auditorium. Spirits weren't dampened however as most of the class attended the party afterwards at the White Manor Country Club. Fond farewells were said as each went off to their new beginning.

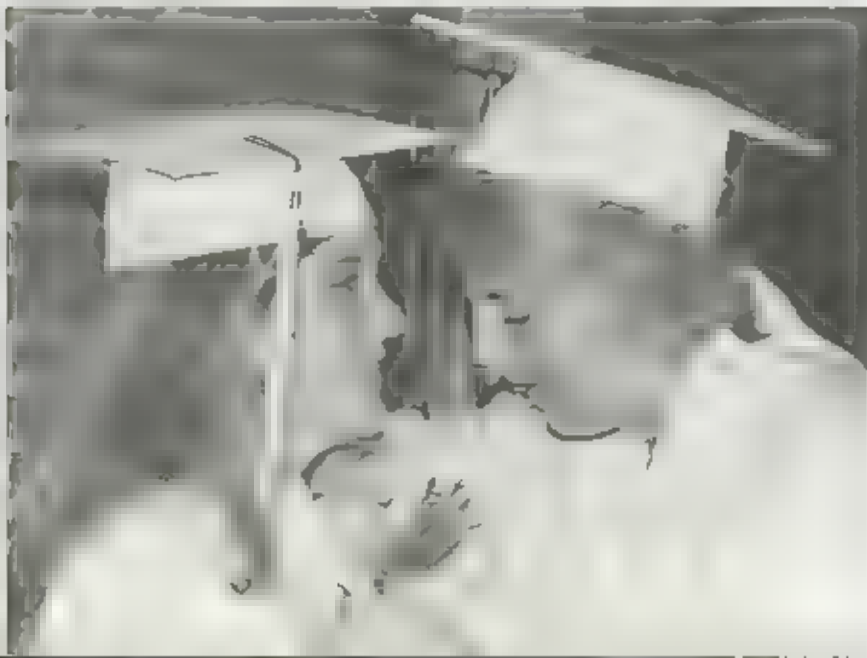

Smiles are big as the class walks on the field.

Hat Trick Plus One

Well, the class of 1977 really pulled it off. We won Spirit Week four years in a row. Our able sponsor, Mr. Diorka, had planned months in advance for the annual competition. He also planned to sell a "Spirit Week Strategy" book to anyone who was willing to pay the price. Many spirited seniors spent weeks ahead of time working on posters in a church basement till well over eleven o'clock at night. In reward of all our hard work, we were able to win the clothing drive and penny collection to contribute to a worthy charity. We also showed our style by winning the clothing days--Red, White, and Blue Day and Blue and Gray Day. On the climatic day, seniors went all out with various forms of costumes involving balloons and streamers.

Tom Warren clowns around with the fetal pig in Biology II. Tom would like to major in biology.

Tom is eager to learn in Calculus class.

Tom Warren was voted "Most Likely to Succeed" by the Class of 1977. But a good question could be, "Most Likely to Succeed in What?". As a scholar? As an actor? As an athlete? As a musician? Tom excels in all these areas. As a scholar, Tom is in the top of his class. He is the president of NHS and a National Merit Semi-Finalist. Tom is also a promising actor. He has had key roles in many school plays. He is also an excellent athlete, participating in football and track. Tom is musically inclined. He was in choir and chamber singers and was also in marching and concert band. Tom plans to be a biology major in college. The class wishes him the best of luck.

We Came, We Saw, We Ate

The smorgasbord had almost a full house for all three sittings.

The annual Senior Class Smorgasbord was held this year on April 20th. Every senior participated in this event by bringing some kind of food dish. Most of the students helped sell tickets or else worked at the smorgasbord. The co-ordinators of the smorgasbord were Mary Beth McLean and Bonnie McQuiston. Miss Martin also gave much of her time and invaluable help to make it the success that it was.

Students March Through Marsh

Thirty-five science students and three chaperones elected to participate in the three-day Wallops Island Consortium class in Virginia. They had two instructors who led them through various field studies and lab classes. Everyday opened their eyes and minds to new discoveries about maritime plants and animals. There were daily beach excursions on which learning and relaxation were done. The trip ended with the Salt Marsh Study, which proved to be very messy, but all in all, each and every student agreed that the trip was rewarding and worthwhile.

Creativity Abounds

The 1976 Governor's School sent two students from Great Valley: Mark Abram for Theater, and Diane Mattson for Art.

The Governor's School is a five week course held at Bucknell University each summer. The course is an extensive study into the Arts, including Theater, Music, Dance, Photography, and Creative Writing. Admission to the Governor's School is achieved through a series of auditions and interviews. There are over 2000 applicants but only 250 are chosen. We congratulate Mark and Diane.

Elite Scholars

National Merit Scholarship Finalists are Kathy Milton, Jo Ann Metzler, Marie Martino, and Debbie French. Not pictured is Nancy Nordeen.

One half of one percent of graduating seniors in the U.S. are chosen to be National Merit Scholarship Finalists. They are chosen on the basis of their PSAT test scores and semi-finalist application. Scholarships may be offered by colleges, universities, and private corporations through the National Merit Corporation. It is a very distinguishing honor and we are proud of those chosen.

Juniors Push Toward The Top

With Mr. Herr as their guiding light, junior class officers Jeff Loudin, pres., John Ellison, vp, Laura Helker, secretary, and Chelle Mowery, treasurer, sought improvement. Jeff warned the juniors that there would be no junior prom unless enough candy was sold to cover the cost. Juniors promptly took advantage of the public's sweet tooth and Chelle had piles of money to count. The treasury again gained weight with profitable canteens in the winter.

The theme this year was "juniors take heed." In the Spirit Week pep rally juniors cheered the loudest in three years and painted high quality posters. Their inner strength began to surface, giving others confidence in the next senior class.

Junior Vips:

Dave Campli: Photographer off to Governor's School; Gwen McKeon: averaged twelve points per B-ball game; Brock Miller: distinguished grades for three years; Eric Riley: goes to Bolivia next year

Juniors Learn The Wonders Of Chemistry

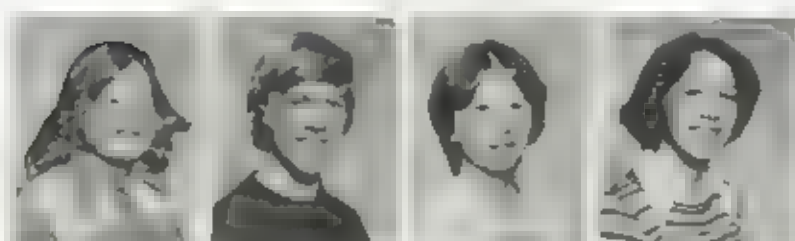

Frank Keegan and Rick Roall "Round about the caldron go; In the poison'd entrails throw--."

Chemistry, how can it be described: It is the subject in which students are introduced to the wonders of the mole and are lucky enough to wear the latest chemistry fashions: lab aprons and goggles. Almost as popular as Mr. Kocher's definition of culture is the fact that there are 6.03×10^{23} particles per mole. The student soon becomes accustomed to the ever present question, "Do you know what we're doing?" followed by the inevitable answer, "No." One problem that every chemistry student will face at one time is finding someone to centrifuge with. Even worse is having your 500 millimeter beaker slip from your hands and hearing it shatter into a million pieces. What is the poor chemistry student to do? Sweep the floor.

During Spirit Week, many devoted juniors worked long hours painting bright, florescent posters and rounding up red, white, and blue clothes to increase their point total. Scott Nodland donated his expertise to win the pie-eating contest and juniors placed second in the volleyball game.

In January, they picked up the ball again, but this time to play basketball on donkeys. Tom Jackmon and his furry friend scored many points to defeat the sophomores and the seniors. When confronted with the faculty, the juniors lost, but "that's just the way the ball bounces!"

Sophs Clean Up The School

Performing yet another valuable service to the school are class officers (L--R) Wendy Hughes, Bettie Lombardo, Maureen Finn and Lee Krasley.

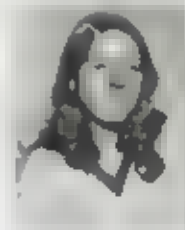

Without determination the sophomores could not have had such a rewarding year. Directed by president Lee Krasley and vice-president Wendy Hughes, the class of '79 put out a big Spirit Week effort. The magazine sale was a success because of the good policies of treasurer Maureen Finn and secretary Bettie Lombardo.

The tenth grade also owes a lot to Mr. Martynick and Mrs. Bartlett, who guided the class toward its goal of making money for a trip in its senior year. Strongly rooted, the sophomore class will continue to play an important role at Great Valley.

Bio Students Find Out The Hard Way

"Ah! Ugh! A crayfish leg is in my glasses case!" So went the cries when members of the class of '79 examined the insides of crayfish and frogs. With probes and tweezers sophomores tried desperately to locate fat bodies in slithery frogs. "Oh, C'mon! This thing's supposed to look like me! No chance, at least I have ear lobes!"

Later sophomores studied the human digestive tract and learned the blood has six functions.

Tradition tells us that at 15 years of age every male and female at Great Valley must be subjected to the changing moods of a stream bed. Drowned worms find their way into sneakers, and stream velocity is measured by escaping clipboards. Believe it or not, there are supposed to be worse things!

Social Science Electives Offer Variety

A fresh taste comes at last in the sophomore year! Students are not so bogged down by required subjects, and the sky is the limit. Electives give tenth graders a look at careers in the social sciences and a chance to broaden their horizons. Tapes, field trips, and guest speakers teach them Oral and Local History, Anthropology and Afro-American History.

Introduction to Behavioral Sciences is popular. Sophomores become familiar with the actions of groups and individuals. By the end of the year, the other grades are at the mercy of perceptive sophomores.

Class officers (l--r) Kim Savastio, Jeff McQuiston, Glen Siegle, and Lisa Fritche enjoy the fruits of their labors.

On September 9 Great Valley opened its unfamiliar, but welcoming doors to an enthusiastic ninth grade class. Mr. Cardamone and Mr. Ellis were ready to take charge of the newcomers as class sponsors. Elections for officers began immediately, and as a result Jeff McQuiston, pres., Lisa Fritche, vp, Glen Siegle, treasurer, and Kim Savastio, secretary, were chosen to lead their class.

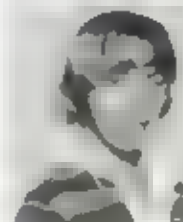

Together the ninth grade class helped plan and execute a victorious candy sale and a winning float early in the fall. They were full of spirit throughout the year, viewing the present and the future with glimmering eyes and positive hopes.

IPS Analyzes The Physical World

Introductory Physical Science is the favorite class of most ninth graders, because in it students are given the chance to "do it themselves." Ice cubes, antacid, and sodium chloride become household words in many homes of ninth graders, while they experiment with different forms and types of matter. Each week, during five action-packed periods, students play the parts of real scientists by mixing elements and weighing the results. During the sludge experiment, ninth graders bring together different techniques that were learned in order to separate mysterious solutions into their components.

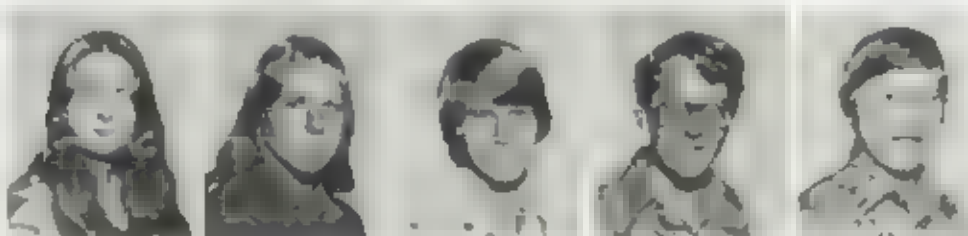

Accidents occur: run-away beads, bottomless test tubes, and scorched thermometers drive many a young scientist raving mad or send him to the poorhouse. Generally though, students leave at the end of the year with a fresh view of the physical world and they are eager to learn more about it.

Mr. Watson shows his students how to obtain results.

Frosh Explode

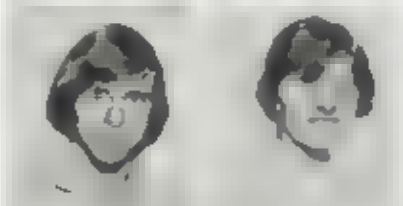

What did the class of '80 do during its first year at Great Valley? Come on with a BANG, that's what! The ninth grade broke a record by selling more candy than any other class in Great Valley's history. Upper classmen stomped the salesmen to gather wrappers, which were coupons for almost free meals at Chick-fil-A.

On Homecoming, October 16, an artistic freshman float won first place. Later the freshmen placed second in Spirit Week competition. Many an evil eye fell on the seniors as the freshmen tried hard to break the seniors' winning streak. Almost, but not quite!

Mrs. Adams teaches several math courses, but is best known as the calculus teacher. We have often seen her in the faculty plays, but she is not as well known as the choreographer of our student musicals.

A student watches as Mr. Agostini zooms in on a proton. He is a biology teacher who moonlights on the golf course as golf team coach. This year his team brought in 8 out of 10 victories. B.O. Club members remember his football maneuvers at the annual picnics.

Mr. Allebach, head of the physical education department, welcomes students to his health class. He coaches ninth grade soccer and basketball.

Mrs. Bartlett smilingly assigns a grade to a student's drama performance. She is an English teacher and co-sponsor of the Class of 1979.

Mrs. Bagler pointedly explains a verb conjugation to her Spanish class. She also teaches comparative European Lit. Her activities as sponsor of IFC keep her busy after school.

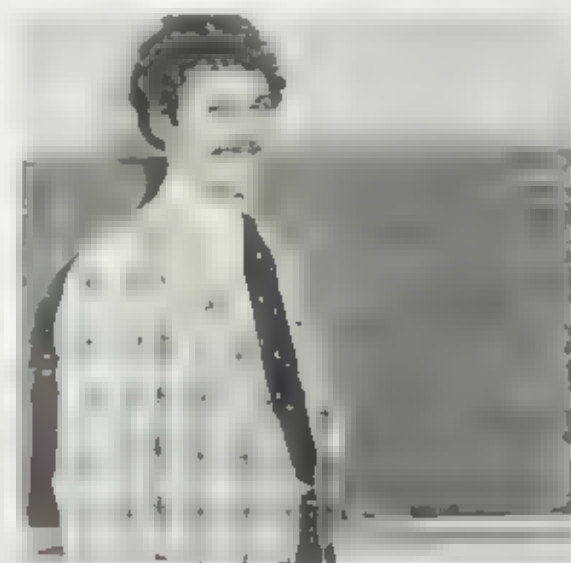

"It's bûr chûr, not bô chûr!" Mrs. Boettler remarks in frustration. She teaches all levels of Spanish and sponsors Girls' Leaders and the ETP program.

The English department is privileged to have a new male teacher. This year Mr. Brophy taught many English courses including Business English and College Writing. During the winter he assists Mr. Diorka with the track team.

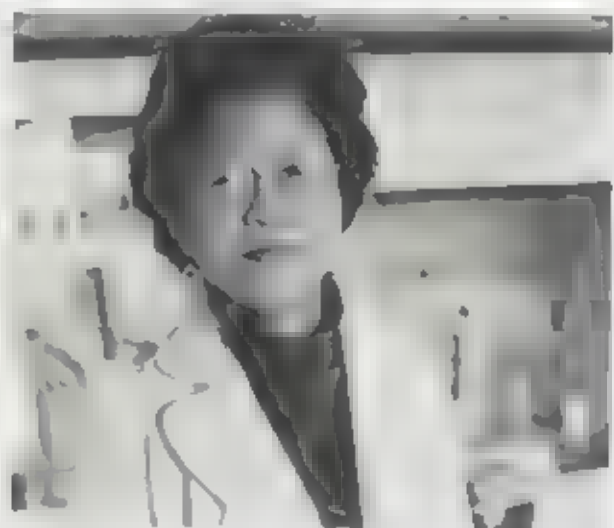

Jim McKa, listens attentively as Mrs. Calabro goes over a lesson, which could be anything from Consumer Ed. to Advanced Sewing. She often spends her free periods with sewers involved in Supplementary Clothing. After school she co-sponsors the cheerleaders.

We all remember Mr. Campbell from General Wayne. He says he finds students at Great Valley comparatively mature. He teaches courses such as Contemporary Lit. and Written Argument and sponsors the Stage Crew.

Mrs. Bravo Has Traveled Around The World

Many of us had Mrs. Bravo for IPS in ninth grade, but we may not know that she has traveled around the world. She has visited schools in the Far East, where education is not compulsory. She felt that because of this they work harder at their education and appreciate it more.

Mrs. Bravo loves teaching. She "marvels at the potential of the kids." She feels the most rewarding aspect of teaching is watching the students grow up. She meets us when we come in as ninth graders and watches us mature to seniors.

Outside the classroom, Mrs. Bravo spoils her four precocious grandchildren. She enjoys cooking, sewing, and macrame. Anyone who has ever been in her classroom would realize that she loves plants as well as her students.

"Mr. Baker, where are your safety glasses?" As head of the shop department, Mr. Baker should know better. Here he watches as a student works on a lathe. Mr. Baker sponsors the Ski Club and always travels with them to Vermont.

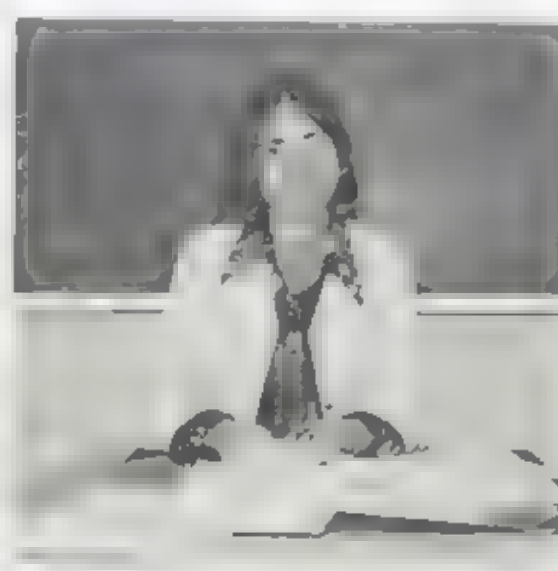

A new addition to the art department faculty is Miss Bowers. Here she offers constructive criticism concerning a student's preliminary sketches. She is also co-sponsor of Pep Club.

The responsibility of teaching all levels of aerospace belongs to Col. Caplan. He arranges many interesting field trips and speakers for his students. Outside the classroom he works with the Coin Club, Model, and Rocketry Club and drill team.

Head basketball coach, Mr. Clark, puts in many long hours at Great Valley. In the spring he busies himself as baseball's assistant coach. Not only does he teach math all day, but he spends more evenings than not at practices and games.

Mrs. Cochran is a new teacher in the business department. She teaches typing part-time.

Mr. Sarge Colon is very active in the science department and teaches ROTC. He is involved with the Civil Air Patrol, a first aid class, and an effectiveness training class.

Mr. Creek is a very dedicated sponsor of the school newspaper the Surveyor. He is also known for his clowning antics in English.

Miss Dietz is very active in school and extra-curricular activities. Besides being the mathematics department head, she is also the NHS co-sponsor. She coaches two successful sports teams-- basketball and softball.

Thank You Mr. Crisi

During his 9 years at Great Valley, Mr. Crisi has been very active. He coaches football, teaches World Cultures, and now he is in the administrative position of Director of Student Activities. Mr. Crisi is always willing to give advice whether it's about throwing a block, running an activity, or even a question about the philosophical ideas behind Maoism.

Of course, there's always the problem of recognizing him. On any given day he may or not have a beard and his hair style changes frequently. But however he looks, he's always available to emcee the spirit week pep rally or help to organize the numerous class activities. The students of Great Valley are grateful for his help.

Mr. Ferguson pauses to find a math problem. He teaches geometry and algebra. Before school and at lunches, he tends the school store.

Mr. Fater is a new arrival to the social studies department. He teaches both World Cultures I and II.

Here Mrs. Fray circles some typing errors. She teaches Typing I and II and the Typing Service Club. She is also sponsor of the Future Business Leaders of America.

Mr. Dorka has one of the more colorful personalities of the teachers at Great Valley. He is the dedicated and successful coach of cross country and track. He also sponsors the four-time winner of the Spirit Jug, the Class of 1977.

Here in P. O. D., Mr. Dobosh tells about his grandmother, the bartender. He instructed the new gifted program on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Miss Ebert left her English teaching position last after Christmas, but remained the devoted sponsor of the Musket. She was always known for her sunny smile.

Mr. Ellis instructs sophomore, Troy Pitts, on the use of the microscope for a biology lab.

Mr. Erskine flashes one of his friendly smiles. After fulfilling his duties as a world cultures teacher, he finds time to be the sponsor to the Pep and Girls' Soccer Clubs.

Mr. Esposito catches up on some last-minute grading in study hall. He teaches various business education courses and coaches ninth grade football and wrestling.

Mrs. Fuller is a new addition to the foreign language department. She teaches German.

Miss Gentile is a new teacher to the physical education department. Here she instructs junior Sue Rowland in archery. She is also head lacrosse coach and J. V. hockey coach.

Mrs. Goodrich returned to the home economics department this year. Senior Ed Dimpler looks on as she prepares some apples for cooking.

Mrs. Grande gives us one of her big smiles. She teaches Typing I, and Shorthand I and II. She is also co-sponsor of the Future Business Leaders of America Club.

Mr. Grande checks students' answers to lab questions. He teaches Chemistry A and C. He is also the sponsor of Ecology Club and ninth grade baseball coach.

Mrs. Grenier is a new teacher to the English department. Besides teaching English, she also teaches reading.

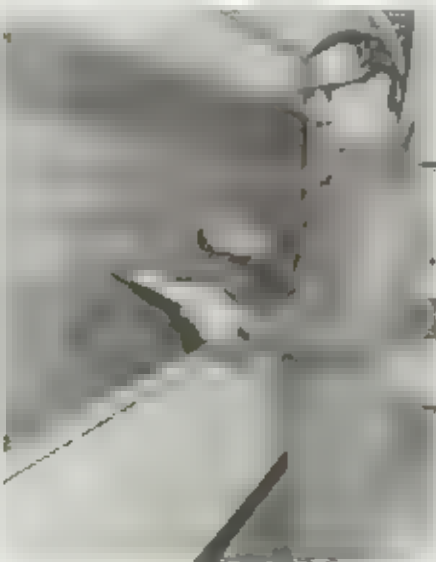

Mr. Honig is an Algebra I, and Algebra II and Trig. teacher. He is also involved with Varsity Club, and is asst. football coach and head baseball coach.

Mr. John checks his attendance list in conservation study hall. He is an APS and Biology I teacher.

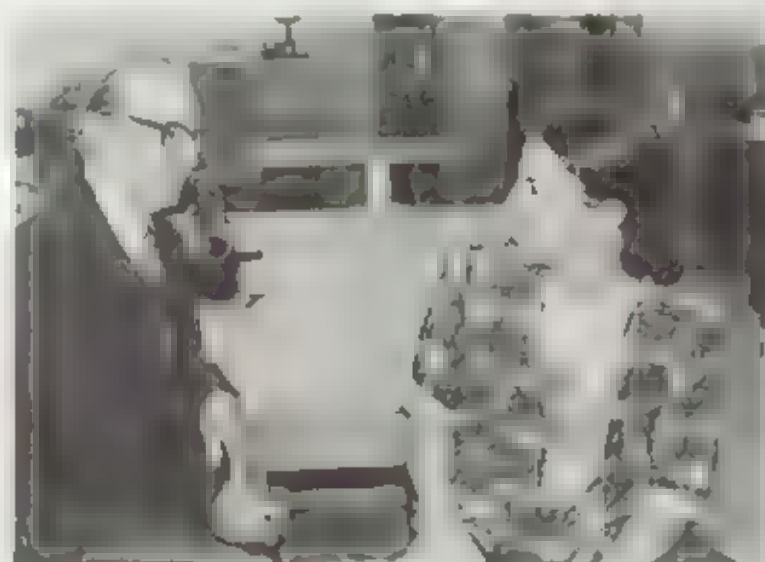

Mr. Kadyk pauses after directing the orchestra in practice. He directs concerts for other schools and Great Valley. He is also the music dept. head.

Mr. Kellerman carefully reviews his notes. He teaches College Math and Applied Math. He is one of the most comical teachers at school.

Mr. Kessler teaches a variety of music courses. They are guitar, music appreciation, theory, and twentieth century music.

Mr. Kessler has a friendly chat with junior Brad Mattes about his artwork. Besides having a degree in art, he also has one in engineering from Annapolis.

Here Mr. Helkins smiles at his class. They are looking about 'The Blue Men of Africa', one of many movies seen in World Cultures I.

Mr. Herr teaches P.O.D. and coaches football. This year he originated a new social studies elective entitled "Law and Justice."

If you have ever had Mr. Hickman you know that he's asking senior, Doug Young, "Are you sure you're saying what you mean?". Mr. Hickman teaches his students to communicate more effectively, in speech and in writing.

Englishman's Viewpoints On America

This year we were fortunate to have an exchange teacher from England. Biology teacher, Mr. Robert McCarter, traded places with Mr. Arthur Grant of Canterbury.

Commenting on our school Mr. Grant said that he disliked the use of passes and forms which treat students like children. He felt that we have a modern and efficient system of administration, but that it may destroy the soul of the school with its tendency to computerize and create bureaucracy. He said he liked the vivacity of American students. They differ from English students in that they must be shown how to solve problems, rather than thinking it out.

Mr. Grant described his strangest experience in America as a pep rally. He claimed that it reminded him of a combination of the French Revolution, a discotheque, and a football game. We all enjoyed Mr. Grant's wit and constructive criticisms.

Mrs. Keegan is head of the English department. This year she led a group of students and teachers to a series of plays at the Walnut Street Theatre.

"Culture is the sum total of the learned behavior in any given society." It is because of Mr. Kocher that none of us can ever forget this definition of culture.

Drama Guild Thanks Mrs. M

To a curious onlooker, it would appear that theatre is Mrs. Nancy Lee Miller's one love. Fortunately for us she finds many creative and constructive outlets for this passion.

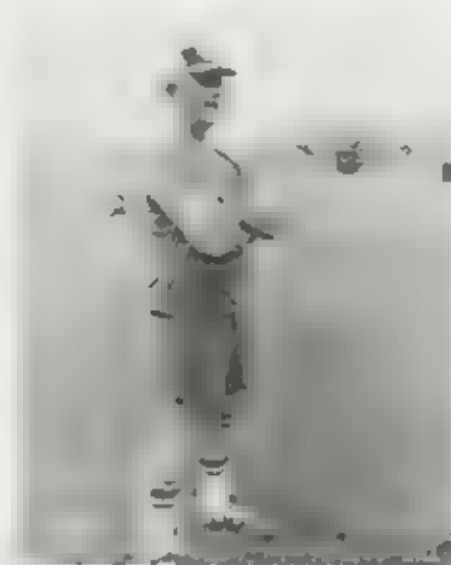

For example Mrs. Miller sponsors Great Valley's Drama Guild. Each year, the Drama Guild puts on a production in conjunction with the music department. Mrs. Miller usually directs it. She devotes practically all of three months to this, giving all of her time, her skills, her knowledge, and herself. And each year she vows, "I'll never do it again!", at least, not until next year.

Mrs. M. Dowell first taught at G.V. last year as full time substitute. This year she graduated to a full time English teacher.

Mrs. M. Michael smiles as her French students look on. She teaches advanced levels of French and Comparative European Lit. . Throughout the year she has French dinners for her students. In the spring she heads a trip to France.

Mr. Manon, the head football coach, is shown here in familiar attire. He teaches Advanced Gym when he isn't out on the field coaching.

Mrs. Rita Miller of the math department enjoys teaching Algebra II and Trig. along with telling of extraneous and erroneous problems.

Mrs. Nigro, who teaches part time English, contemplates her students.

Mr. Nodland not only helps out students in shop but also coaches wrestling during the winter.

Mr. Kramer points out a fact about the Industrial Revolution. He teaches U. S. History and helps with Boys' Interact.

Mr. MacFarland instructs senior Ed Alton on how to cut a pipe while it's in a vice. He is one of four industrial arts teachers.

Mr. McAfee checks his attendance list in quiet study hall in the Fish-bowl. He teaches in the mathematics department.

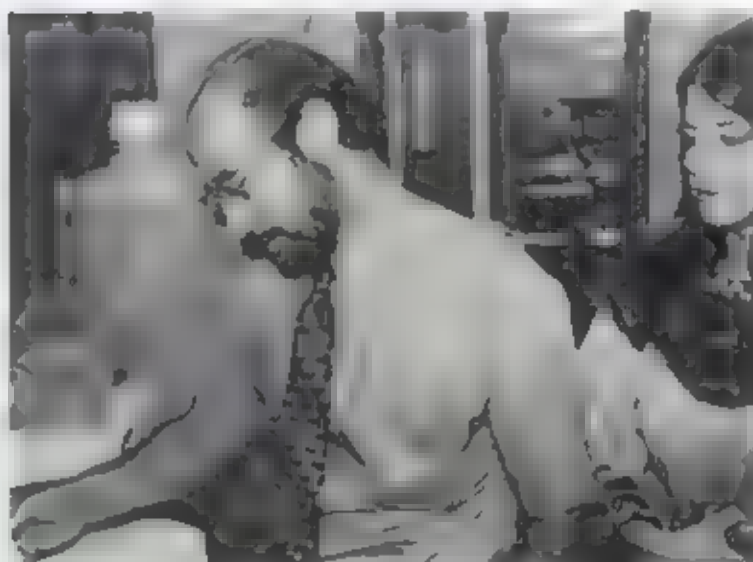

Mr. Mark glances around the room as his class takes a test. If you have him for class you'll know that he is famous for his ten-question tests.

Miss Martin looks as if she is enjoying planning for her child care class. She runs the nursery school program and is also head of the home ec. dept.

Mr. Martynick, our calm, cool, and carefree chemistry teacher, relaxes as his class does problems. This teacher, also noted for his "neat" handwriting, is sophomore class sponsor.

Mr. Procopio helps out senior Kathy Moriarty in her effort to measure a soil sample. He heads the trip of both the Agricultural Science and Mr. Grant's Bio. II classes to Wallops Island in the spring.

Mrs. Onderdonk enjoys teaching college writing as well as many other English courses. She also helps arrange Drama Guild theater trips.

Mr. Rhoads the exciting young band director has brought much improvement to the band in the past two years. His broad smile is well known to all band students.

Mrs. Ronnertmann relaxes and chats with her pupils. Her warm smile is familiar to everyone who knows her. She teaches physical science courses such as I. P. S. and I. I. S. . In the spring she coaches softball.

Mr. Ruess helps Kathy Nields with a problem. Anyone in physics knows it must be "pretty straight-forward". As the sole teacher of physics Mr. Ruess has a lot to contend with.

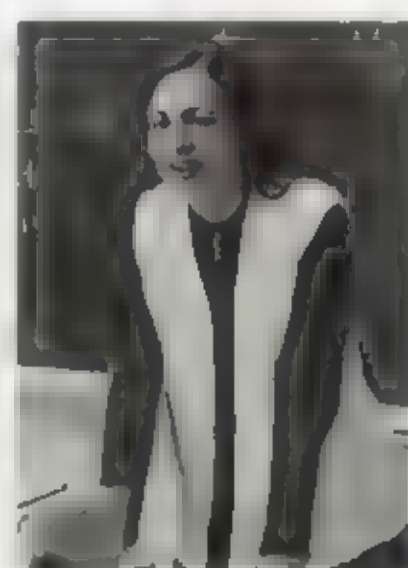

Mr. Sach is an industrial arts teacher. In this picture he and one of his students play with blocks.

Mrs. Skibbe demonstrates a tennis stroke as senior, Ann Voltz, looks on. As a physical education teacher she instructs everything from tennis and golf to slim-mastics and dance. She also teaches Health and is co-sponsor of the Ski Club.

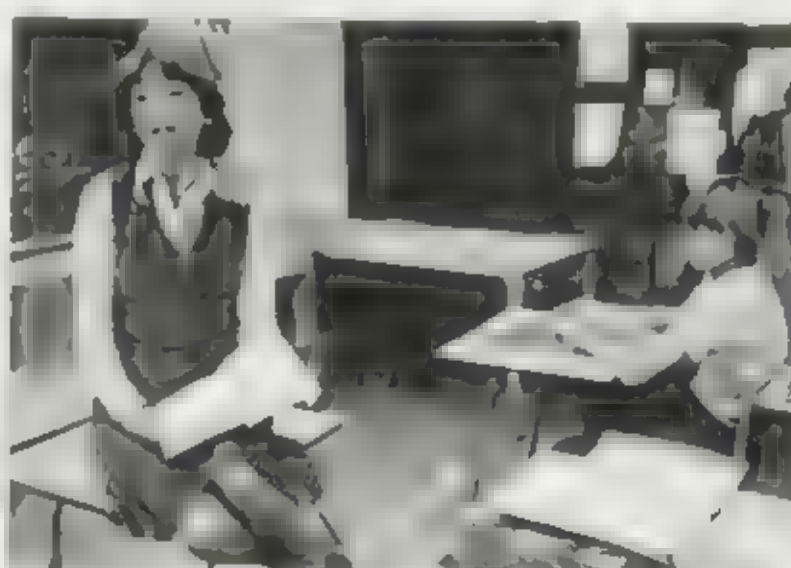

Mr. Smith teaches U. S. History, Oral/Local History, and Current Problems. He has planned several field trips and guest speakers for the electives.

One of three French teachers at Great Valley, Miss Smith smiles while listening to a student recite a verb conjugation.

As retired Director of Student Activities, Mr Sprague enjoyed getting back to teaching this year. The gerbil, one of his best students, is a teacher's pet.

Miss Steele in a typical pose has her typical "Boy are you dumb!" expression on her face. Anyone who's ever had her for a writing course is probably a better writer for it, despite the anguish. She is hard to please. Miss Steele sponsors the Labyrinth.

Mr. Stemple is affectionately known as "Zoom" by soccer players and students alike. In addition to being head soccer coach and ski race team sponsor, he teaches math.

Smilingly, Mr. Sapone condescends to let the photographer snap his picture. As head of the social studies department, Mr. Sapone is kept busy with many responsibilities. He teaches U.S. History and Social Science Seminar.

Mr. Schucker graces us with a rare smile. He spends his days teaching chemistry, including Chem. B and Chem. II. In the spring he coaches boys' Tennis.

Mrs. Seymour's specialty is French. She teaches four different levels and exposes her students to such interesting activities as cheese tasting.

Mrs. Snyder is a member of the math department. She is teaching computer for the first time this year.

Mrs. Stewart one of G.V.'s new P.E. instructors, takes a delight in teaching coed gym. She also doubles as the girls' gymnastic coach.

The Fourth Dimension

Mr. Snyder is one of Great Valley's more unusual teachers. He is the kind of teacher you will tell your kids about twenty years later. He is usually working on some philosophical problem in the back of his mind. As you walk into his class he'll say, "I've almost grasped the fourth dimension," and proceed in a lengthy, complex, and detailed explanation most of which will be far beyond your capacity for understanding. As he would say "on the fringes of human thought".

The most enjoyable part of Mr. Snyder's class is often the tangents he explores. In his Philosophical Writing class one day he went from "the inherent inconsistency of sin" to time-travel paradoxes. A fantastic story teller, he will sit on the desk in the front of his room, drinking tea from his thermos, and recount the latest exploit of his baby son Joshua.

This year Mr. Snyder spent many hours planning and instructing the new seminars for gifted students. He deserves thanks for this and many other things he's done for students at Great Valley.

Most of us remember our tenth grade research paper with at least a little bit of pride. Mr. Stoltz helped some of us survive the agony of note cards and outlines. In addition to World Cultures II he teaches Anthropology. He also sponsors B. S. U.

Here Mr. Sutcliffe conducts the Concert Choir in practice. He is responsible for all of the school's vocal groups and teaches General Music.

Mr. Sutton contemplates the possibilities of a student's work. He is an art teacher who specializes in sculpture and ceramics.

Mr. Washenko, a member of the business department, smiles for the camera. As a teacher of P. H. T. and secret typing courses he helps students learn the basics.

While helping two IPS students with a job, Mr. Watson has time to pose for the photographer. He spends a lot of time around cameras as the sponsor of Photo Club.

Mr. Whitcraft is always available for help when it is needed. Here he assists senior, Miss Rhoad, with her typing. Mr. Whitcraft teaches business courses and runs the school bank.

Mr. Whitlock keeps himself busy teaching business education courses, sponsoring ASB, and coaching freshmen football. ASB appreciates his help with their activities.

A new addition to the Great Valley business department this year, Mr. Withson is enthusiastic about future years at our school.

Mr. Worthington helps Great Valley students go from Highway Safety to their driver's tests. He teaches gym and patrols the student parking lot.

Mrs. Sutton instructs sophomore Kathy Carson in jewelry. She also teaches other art techniques such as textiles and pottery. She is now also assistant band director.

Mrs. Tich reads her class a story. She is the only teacher that instructs Latin. She also teaches English.

Mr. Thomas takes time out during his lunch break to read a book. He came to Great Valley from General Wayne this year. He teaches in the mathematics department.

New Administrator Joins Como, Kase, And Esbrandt

In his position as assistant principal Mr. Cilo is concerned primarily with discipline. He also helps Dr. Esbrandt and Mr. Kase with teacher evaluations and school policy. Mr. Cilo has had previous experience with both teaching and administrative work.

Dr. Esbrandt and Mr. Cilo confer at a pep rally. Dr. Esbrandt has final responsibility for everything that goes on in the school. Throughout the year he coordinates the budget, evaluates teachers, works with the SRS on student problems, etc.

Mr. Kase has been a vice-principal for two years so he enjoyed a chance to substitute teach Mrs. Adam's Calculus class. Mr. Kase is in charge of curriculum and scheduling.

Mr. Como enjoys an apple. He is Director of Athletics. We often see him in council with various athletes, coaches, and administrators.

Library Or Lounge?

The library is not, we are told, a social center; yet it certainly is a congenial environment for socializing. The librarians, Mrs. Baldwin, Miss Cassiola, Mrs. Winters, and Mrs. Bernardin, are reasonably tolerant of our antics and always willing and able to help when we really are working. They always know just where to find what we're looking for.

The facilities, including everything from magazines to microfilm, provide much opportunity for research. The library contains some bit of information on nearly every topic you can think of. It is an important part of our education to learn to use the library resources.

Miss Cassiola confers with students.

As Lynette and Karen become more engrossed in their work the books accumulate.

Guidance Dept. Establishes Guidelines For Future

The guidance dept. provides services which run the gamut from setting up college conferences to standardized testing. Through them we can arrange to be tutored or to be counseled on future plans. The constant badgering of our counselors provides us with the incentive to get those college applications in the mail!

In addition to all this it is always fun to spend a study hall browsing through catalogues and planning your future as we see Tim Sackinheim doing at right.

Megan Bailey looks surprised that someone has interrupted her typing.

Mrs. Grande and Mrs. Frey.

Practicality Of Business Programs Is Obvious

We often find ourselves asking our math and English teachers, "But what GOOD is the quadratic formula to ME?" or "Who cares about the message in WAR AND PEACE?" "These things don't matter in REAL LIFE"! One can't, however, ask his typing teacher, "When in the world will I possibly use typing in my career?" This is because the courses offered by the business department reap tangible benefits. They prepare students for jobs straight out of high school. It is possible for students to revolve their schedule entirely around a business curriculum. In fact, the business department is a whole different world.

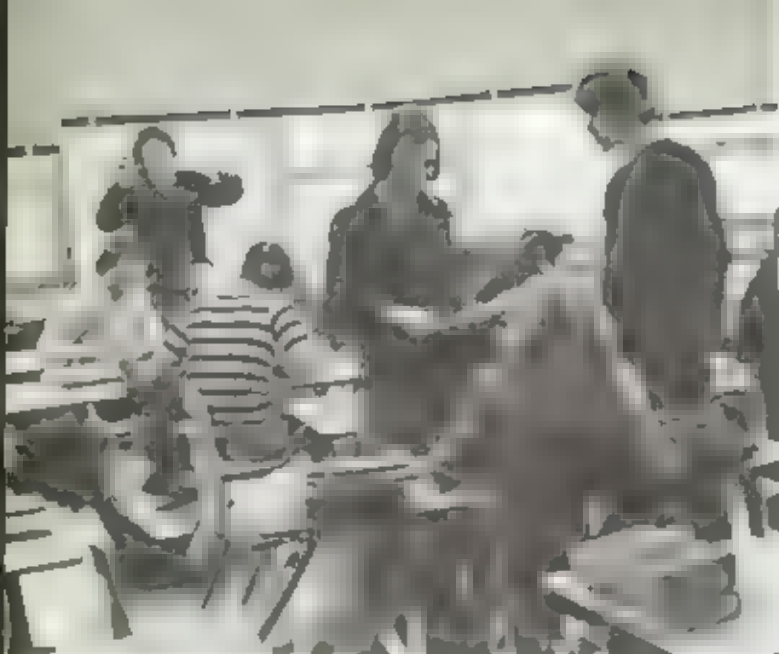

Amy Quay is engrossed in her typing.

Adele Moulden surreptitiously erases an error.

A smile from Mr. Whitcraft.

Miss Ebert advises students.

It doesn't look like anybody's reading in this reading class!

English Department: Back To Basics

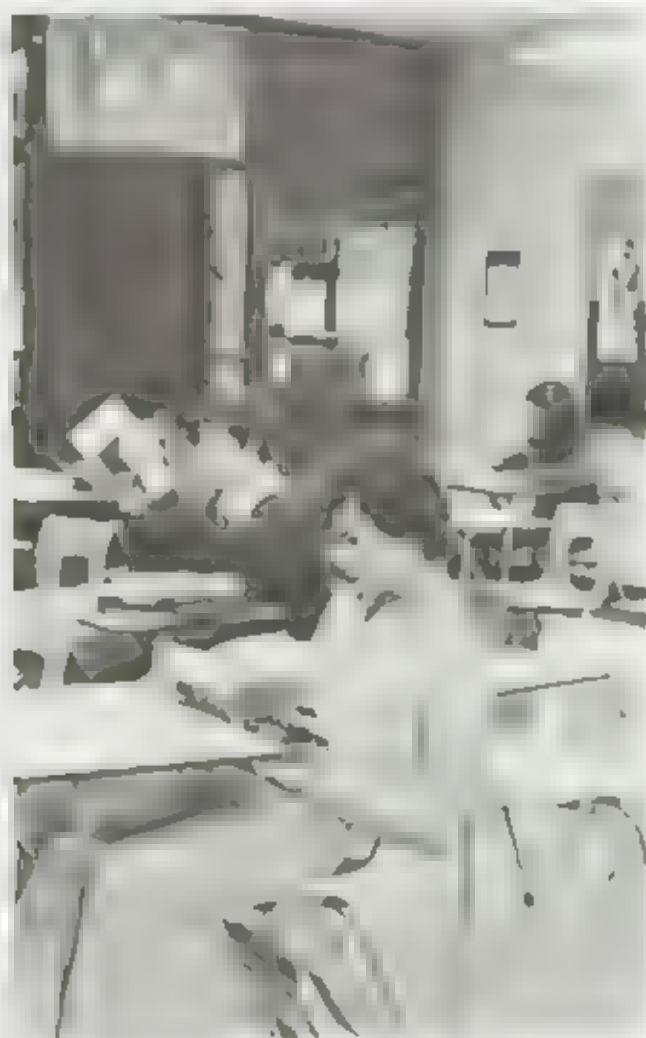

This year marked the beginning of a new system for G. V.'s English dept. The new program is designed to insure that students reach a certain level of competency before moving on. The stress is on taking a position and arguing logically for it. When the first competency exams were administered some students found, to their dismay, that it was no joke.

Once a student has moved past the level I area he has a wide range of courses to choose from. One can study journalism, poetry, drama or novels. With all this choice a student is bound to find something that interests him!

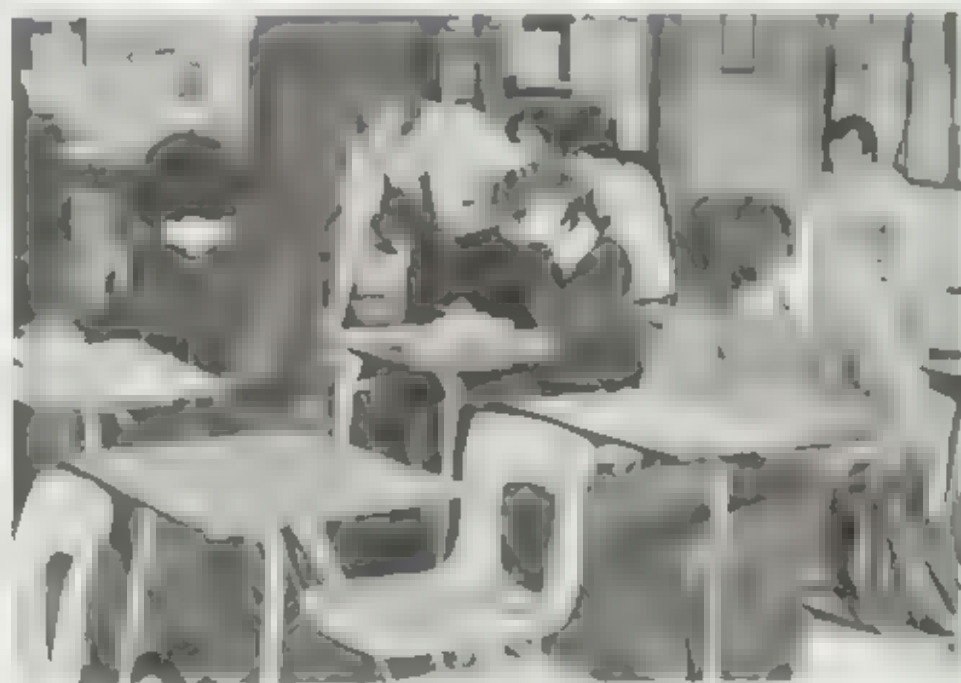

Student-teacher conference

Theme Readers Advise Students

Theme readers work closely with students on their writing. They come weekly to collect new papers or to help rework old ones.

Foreign Languages Broaden Our Horizons

Language classes are conducted both formally and informally.

Students share the fruit of their labor.

Anyone who has ever taken a language course knows how hopeless it feels to be swamped with grammatical exercises and verb conjugations. He truly understands the phrase "It's all Greek to me!" However, if one manages to survive these somewhat grueling exercises, he is amply rewarded: foreign languages provide students with an opportunity to round off their education. Students are exposed to and study in depth, not only another language, but another country, another culture, and another lifestyle. Learning experiences are not restricted to the classroom. Students also spend time in the language lab improving their auditory skills.

As a student teacher, Madame Adrien, a native speaker from Africa, offered insight into the French culture.

Future Scientists Forge Their Beginnings

Great Valley harbors an enthusiastic science department. Activities range from the sludge test in I.P.S., to the frog dissection in biology, to laboratory explosions in chemistry, all culminating with calculating the velocity of the moon in physics. Excursions with science classes take students away from the classroom as they explore the terrestrial and aquatic vistas of the world.

When students are less than entrilled with science, they may end their frustration after two years...and, for those somewhat-crazed but serious science students, advanced levels of biology, chemistry, and physics are available for them to pursue. By taking advantage of the various offerings of the science department students have an opportunity to learn about their bodies and their environment on both the atomic and planetary level.

Mr. Flis demonstrates frog dissection.

I.P.S. students attempt a lab.

Chem. II challenges Andy and Jim.

Mr. Grant helps Joe with a problem.

Sarge Colon and Colonel Caplan size up the situation. As the instructors of the ROTC program, these two propel students through all levels of Aerospace.

Dave Perotti and John R. are concerned over the success of an I.P.S. lab.

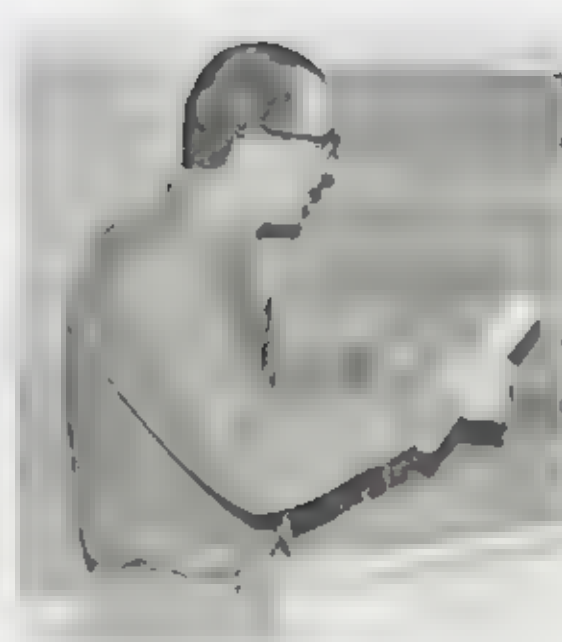

Mrs. Adams points out the error.

Miss Dietz is in control.

Mr. Kellerman gets involved in the problem.

Mathematics Courses Help Us To Think Logically

Taking into consideration varying needs and levels of ability, the math department offers something for everybody. We can acquire just basic computational skills or explore advanced mathematics in calculus.

Mathematics teaches us discipline, as well as logic. Many of those difficult problems require nothing more than stick-to-it-iveness. Math provides us with a better understanding of the technological society in which we live.

Students wait apprehensively as Mr. Stemple relates their test grades.

Computer Programming Makes A Beginning For Us In Technology

G. V.'s computer gives students a special opportunity to learn the basics of programming. Tasks range from determining bio-rhythms to air plane reservation systems.

Social Studies Classes Teach Culture, Politics, Etc.

Each year the scope of the social studies curriculum narrows until it focuses on the U.S. government alone. We begin by learning about other cultures, then the history of our own country and finish off by trying to understand the intricacies of our government and economic system. We are also given the opportunity to explore other areas in the social sciences through a variety of electives. The social studies teachers make good use of audio visual aids. They also involve their students in group activities. It is through social studies classes that we learn to conduct research. Social studies classes are an important part of our high school curriculum.

G.V. Harbors Active Music Department

The music wing is a world unto itself--the "musically talented" students of Great Valley can find plenty to keep them occupied: in the fall the marching band performed at the football games; this spring, the jazz band hosted 6 high school bands from the East Coast for their annual jazz festival; the concert band, chorus, wind ensemble, and choir performed for their families, as well as the elementary schools; the orchestra contributed their share to the student musical; and the marching band once again earned a well-deserved overnight trip to New York where they competed against 8 other bands in a pageant. For those people less musically inclined, the music department offers courses in the history and theory of music. Voice training and guitar lessons broaden the music program.

The music department attracts students with its free guitar lessons.

Karil Abrahamsen on the alto clarinet

They don't look too hot but they sound great!

Students Engage Themselves In Art . . .

Painting requires attention to detail.

If you are looking for something new to do at Great Valley one place to find it is in the art department. It offers everything from drawing, to ceramics, to jewelry, and, the comparatively new contract system enable you to try almost any project. With four very talented teachers students are offered many different perspectives in various areas of work. the system has shown much success so far and has helped students to expand and develop their talents.

Amy Purcell deliberates.

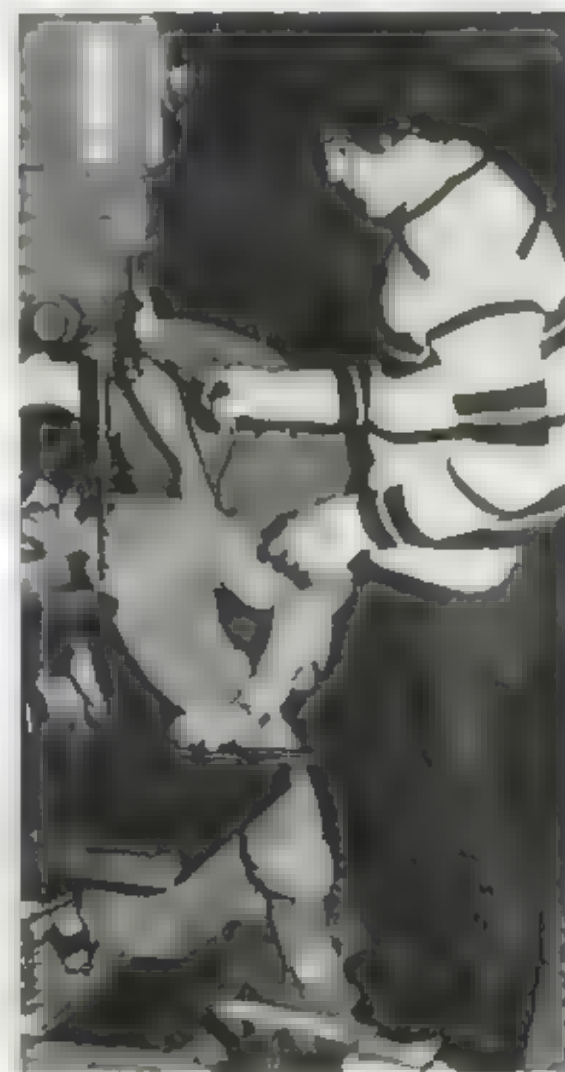

Concentration is the key.

Handiwork . . .

The industrial arts department consists of three basic shops: wood, metal, and drafting. The prerequisite course, General Industrial Arts, teaches students how to use all the tools and how to operate all the machines. From there, the students are on their own. Most of the wood shop projects are bowls, clocks, and various pieces of furniture. Metal shop students specialize in lamps, trays, spoons, and tables. Drafting students go so far as to design buildings.

Students are willing to lend a helping hand.

Rich DeRafelo doesn't act handicapped.

Following the directions step-by-step is the best insurance for a successful garment

Living . . .

The home economics dept. has a comprehensive program for teaching students everything essential to survival. There are courses in clothing, cooking, child development, consumer education, and survival for singles. Survival courses teach students everything from how to survive on a low income to how to invest any money they might have saved. The food labs emphasize the importance of nutrition and a balanced diet, as well as how to cook. Sewing classes have an opportunity to compete in fashion shows outside the school. The consumer ed. classes make good use of the community as a resource for their various projects. Home Ec. courses are very applicable in our lives for the present and the future.

Troy Pitts can't wait to try it.

Nursery School Children Entertain Students

In the Child Development courses students gain insight into child psychology. This knowledge can be put to use with actual children during the second semester. G.V. boasts a unique nursery school program. The children, age four, come in two or three times a week to entertain Miss Martin and her students.

The first step in building a dome is to lay out the base.

Gifted Students Build Dome

Under a new interpretation of the special ed. laws it became necessary this year to provide a special program for students of exceptionally high ability. The program this year was designed to supplement rather than replace the usual curriculum. The gifted program offered students a chance to learn in ways not frequently encountered in the usual high school situation, centering on four types of strategies for acquiring knowledge. The theme changed the second semester when Utopian Society was the theme. The students read and discussed Utopian literature in order to develop the ethics, mores, and values of such a society. Once this was accomplished they worked on designing housing, cities, energy systems, and transportation to support and maintain that ideal life style. Geodesic domes and solar energy are specific examples of topics the students explored.

The last bolt is tightened and the dome is together!

Neither Michele Gardner-Smith nor Mr. Snyder seem very sure about what they're doing.

Here Steve Zucker bolts a strut to a hub. The hubs are what hold the dome together.

A skin for the dome was constructed.

Boys And Girls Get Together For Gym

Continuing with the co-educational classes instituted last year, G.V.'s physical education program is very successful. It provides students with an opportunity to participate in many sports. Through this elective program students have fun in a more relaxed atmosphere with more student-teacher contact contributing to the learning experience. Gym rounds out our education.

Ultimate Frisbee was a new game introduced to upper-classmen this spring.

Volleyball- the thrilling sport that people can't seem to get enough of (at least, the gym teachers can't.)

Students can learn the rules, the playing techniques, and the form of tennis in gym classes during the fall and spring.

Here Lies . . . Responsibility For The District

The school board is the governing body of the school district. Their role is vital since they hold final responsibility for all actions within the district. During monthly meetings the community is able to find out what is happening in the school system and also to voice their opinions. Communications between students and school board improved this year through two Meet the School Board Evenings.

Dr. Dale Tyson is our superintendent. He is at the top of the administrative ladder in the district.

It's possible to spend four full years at Great Valley and never learn the names of some of the people who really make it run efficiently. How many students know the names of the secretaries who keep everything in order, the janitors who keep everything clean, and the cafeteria workers who feed the hungry masses? These dedicated servants who are never in the spotlight deserve much appreciation and many grateful thanks.

Who really runs Great Valley? Anyone in the know knows that it's not Dr. Esbrandt or Mr. Kase. It's Mrs. Garrison. This capable secretary can answer just about every question about just about everything.

Harriers Sprint To Ches-Mont Title

Coach Mike Diorka's motto of "Pride and Tradition" inspired the 1976 Great Valley Cross Country Team to repeat as league champions -- not a simple task. The harriers compiled a 9-0 record to move their list of dual meet victories to 27 straight and assure them of a second consecutive Ches-Mont League title. The 1976 team did not have the natural ability of the 1975 squad, but much dedication and sacrifice, along with many hours of summer running, enabled the harriers to be successful.

The team also participated and placed in three invitational meets: the Conrad Weiser Invitational, where it took second, and the Neshaminy and Steel City Invitationals, where it took third each time. Because the Patriots won the Ches-Mont, they were eligible to compete in the District I Meet and finished third in a field of fifty. That fine showing in turn notched Great Valley a spot in the P. I. A. A. State Meet for the second straight year. The Pats went on to earn a tenth place position.

The leadership roles fell to a pair of consistent seniors, co-captains Bob Voorhees and Jim Dewey. Voorhees took several firsts and stacked up 62 points to lead the team in scoring. Fellow seniors Ken Kapner and Dan Skane also turned in steady performances. The future looks bright for GV as well, with Tom Bailey, Shawn Brown, and Matt Davis, all fine runners, returning to carry on the legacy.

Gridders Tackle Runner-Up Position

Coach Marion on the phones.

The 1976 Great Valley football season was a contrast of agony and triumph. Varied injuries and a disappointing upset at the hands of the Henderson Warriors cost the team a title, but Bill Marion's gridgers finished as league runners-up with a 9-2 record, the best in the school's history. The squad led the Ches-Mont in scoring, and John Herr's defensive unit was second to only that of the Downingtown Whippets. One of the highlights of the season was an impressive thrashing of the highly touted Whippets, as the Pats put on an awesome offensive and defensive display.

Coaches Marion, Herr, Crisi, and Honig received stand-out performances throughout the year from captains Rich DeRafelo, Ken Liskey, and Steve Dixon. Brian Stackhouse, the fourth captain, played well before sustaining a costly knee injury. DeRafelo headlined the action, and was honored by the Ches-Mont League as a first team running back, linebacker, and place kicker. He was also awarded honorable mention as a punter. In the backfield with DeRafelo was Liskey, a hard runner and fine blocker who earned honorable mention status for his offensive abilities and first team recognition as a defensive halfback. Dixon, the other linebacker, led the team in tackles and also received honorable mention. Rounding out the Patroits list of All Ches-Mont honorable mention selections were Steve Flather, as a defensive back, and Maganas, as an offensive tackle.

Golf Clubbed Its Way To Second Place

The 1976 Golf Team enjoyed a very successful season. Gary Agostini's little-publicized squad put in many long hours of practice each day at the Malvern Golf Course, and the hard work was rewarded with a fine 8-2 record and second place standing in the Ches-Mont League. That finish might have been even better if number one golfer Brett Donbach had not been sidelined midway through the year with a broken leg. Donbach and fellow seniors Hellmut Theil, John Hopkins, Jim Howell, Al Koons, and Craig Tosh, along with sophomore Chip Buddin, turned in consistently good performances in each match throughout the season.

Stickgals Drive To Third Place Finish

The girls' hockey team continued its winning tradition with another fine showing in 1976. Second year head coach Sallie Moulder and rookie assistant Rose Marie Gentile, aided by senior co-captains Lynn Harper and Marie Martino, guided the squad through a 7-2-1 season to a share of third place in the keenly competitive Ches-Mont League. The girls got off to a slow start, scoring only three goals in their first four games, before playing some outstanding and exciting late-season hockey.

Offensively the team was led by high scorers Ann Voltz, Nan Satterfield, and Martino, along with fellow line players Betsy Wagner, Donna Quay, and Lisa Romig. Halfbacks Barb Pearson, Karen Vail, and Harper, and fullbacks Joan Fosnocht and Joan Aker piloted the defensive effort. Goalie Miki Burns performed consistently well all year. Special recognition goes to Harper, Fosnocht, and Voltz, all of whom were All Ches-Mont first team selections.

Booters Head For Brighter Future

Senior co-captain Hank Johnson heads the ball downfield.

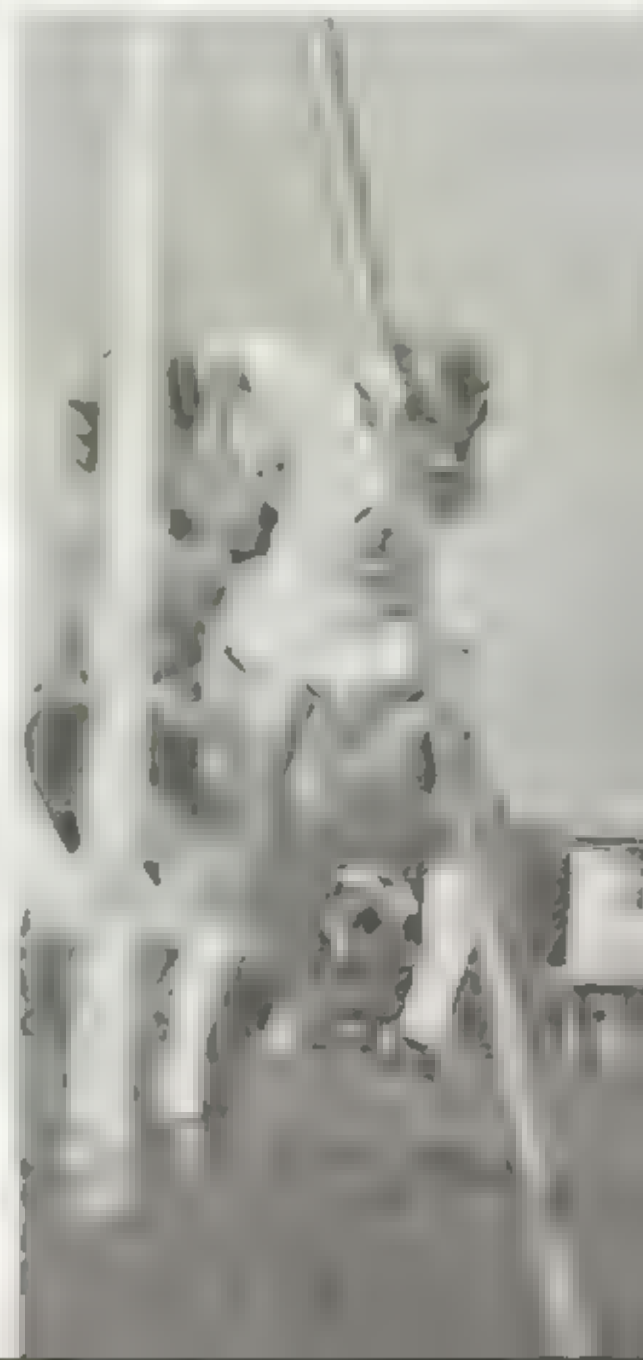

Although Newman Stemple's 1976 soccer team showed a rather unimpressive overall record of 6-11, the win-loss ratio does not tell the entire story. The booters played .500 ball in the Ches-Mont League, and their 5-5 circuit mark was good enough to clinch third place. Included in the non-league defeats were several valiant efforts against some of the area's finest soccer squads; the Pats displayed great hustle and ability in falling to Ridley, Octorara, and Nether Providence all by one goal margins.

Coach Stemple's '76 line-up was a young one and many sophomores and juniors saw a lot of playing time. Heading the list of able underclassmen was junior co-captain Scott Daiutolo, the team's leading scorer. Daiutolo also placed second in league scoring and was rewarded with All Ches-Mont first team laurels. Fellow captain Hank Johnson and junior fullback Chip Myers likewise garnered first team honors. Johnson, an outstanding senior attacker, was also named to the All Suburban Philadelphia Team. Also receiving All Ches-Mont recognition were Patriots Mark Brotherton and Bill Jones, both named to second team, and Steve Zucker, Bruce Houston, and Bob Gluck, all of whom earned honorable mention. Most of these fine players will be back, so the future does indeed look bright for GV soccer!

Spirited Cheerleaders Kick Into Action

Janet Burns leads the cheering.

The 1976-77 varsity cheerleading squad possessed two particularly attractive assets -- classy new uniforms and talented personnel to fill them. The twelve member unit received guidance from its three sponsors, Mrs. Goodrich, Mrs. Calabro, and Mrs. Stewart, while captain Xenia Politis and co-captains Carole Thomas and Janet Burns lent on-the-field leadership. The girls tried out for the squad in the spring of 1976, began practicing in August, and managed to get it all together by the start of the fall sports season. The cheerleaders shouted their support at all varsity football and soccer games in the fall and boys' basketball and wrestling contests through the winter months. Somehow they also found time to practice twice a week, make stacks of posters, and generally keep everyone high spirited and R-O-W-D-I-E!!

Girls' Basketball Leaps To Championship

Great Valley's second 1976-77 Ches-Mont League title was earned by a talented group of girls' basketball players. Sally Dietz's Patriots overcame both a lack of experience and an absence of height in compiling a 13-2 regular season record and a 17-4 overall mark. A twelve game win streak that included several late-season comeback victories boosted the squad to its third circuit crown in four years and an accompanying PIAA tournament berth. Division I rival and eventual state champion Norristown was, however, quick to snap the streak with a first round bombardment.

The champions were led in their quest by senior tri-captains Lynn Harper, Marie Martino, and Beth Darby. Darby was plagued by injury for most of the season, but Harper and Martino proved a tough backcourt pair. While ballhandler Martino directed the attack, Harper's sharp shooting earned her first team All Ches Mont honors. Junior forward Gwen McKeon led the team in scoring, pulled down countless rebounds, and was also named to the first team. Honorable mention went to junior center Chelle Mowery for her consistent all around play. Sophomore stand-outs Maureen Finn and Sarah Heilman shared the fifth position and both made key contributions in high pressure situations. This wealth of able underclassmen makes it safe to state that Great Valley will be the team to beat in the Ches-Mont for several years to come!

Winter Trackmen Collect Their Gold

Coach Diorka directs the troops.

Mike Diorka and Tom Brophy coached the 1976-77 winter track team through a fine season. The squad collected 66 medals to make a five year total of 367. Numerous runners deserve particular attention for their contributions.

Providing needed leadership were tri-captains Bob Voorhees, Dan Skane, and Tom Schellenger. Voorhees and Skane were repeatedly cited for their achievements, especially with regard to the two mile relay. Teamed with Mark Marion and Ken Kapner, they set a division record for the Philadelphia Track Coaches Association and placed second in both Princeton's Meet of Champions and the Indoor State Meet. These accomplishments brought an invitation to Easterns, where they finished eighth in a field of 20.

The four lap relay team of Dom DiPaul, Ed Jackmon, Steve DiAntonio, and Bill Chalfant ran consistently well. DiPaul was also a strong performer in both the mile and 880 relays. Marion merits added mention for his efforts in the 600 yard run, and Shawn Brown, whose specialty was the two mile run, should also be applauded.

The 1976-77 wrestling team had a mediocre season. Sid Nodland's matmen were 6-4 in the Ches-Mont--good enough for third place, and 7-7 overall. Joining senior tri-captains Ken Liskey, Ian Mansmann, and Mike Critchlow with winning records were juniors Scott Nodland, John Ellison, and Ed Whitfield. Liskey, Nodland, and Mansmann all placed in the Sectional Tournament hosted by Great Valley High School. Ken, the Pits' only Sectional champion, also won the District 155 pound title before placing second in Regionals and becoming only the second wrestler in GV history ever to compete in the state tournament.

Gymnasts Envision Unparalleled Future

K.K. Korik does a simple squat vault over the horse.

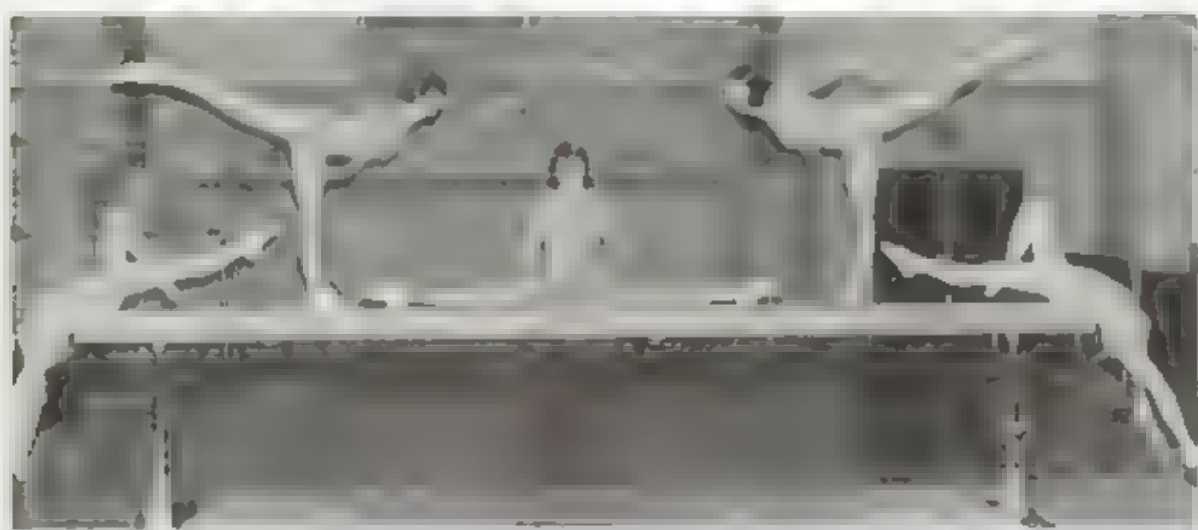

Youth was the main mark of the 1976-77 gymnastics team. In only its second year of existence, the squad was comprised of just three seniors and no less than 24 underclassmen. This inexperience may help explain a disappointing 4-5 showing in the Suburban I League.

Competing in four events in each of the nine circuit meets, the team earned a total of 14 first place and 23 second place judgments. Coach Elmina Stewart's most consistent performers were freshman Carol Parker, sophomores Jean Bernhard and Sallie Moulder, and juniors Margie Harris and Elaine Hallett. The latter two, along with senior Louise Zemaitis, also served as captains.

Earning noteworthy individual honors were Harris and Parker. While Margie exhibited third place form on the balance beam, Carol placed fourth all-around in the league meet at the regular season's end. Both went on to the District Meet, where Carol's impressive display on the uneven bars gained her a spot in the PIAA championships at Shippensburg. It is hoped that this talented freshman and friends will contribute to many GV victories in the seasons ahead.

Shortage Of Height Fouls Up Courtmen

The 1976-77 basketball team had its problems. Height is a big factor in basketball and a shortage of it hurt the Patriots. The all senior squad found itself outsized in every contest throughout an 11-13 season, as Coach Bob Clark started many games with only one man over six feet in the line-up.

The season opened on an optimistic note as Great Valley captured all three non-league games, but the start of Ches-Mont League action brought a better indication of what was to come. The Pats dropped their first circuit contest in overtime and lost the second by just two points. Several more close defeats were included in the first half of play, which the courtmen finished with a 3-7 mark. They settled for a 5-5 second half tally.

Individually, the highlight of the year came when Mark Shrader broke the school career point record previously held by his brother Eric. Mark led the league and the entire local area in scoring, averaging 24.9 points per game, and was selected first team All Ches-Mont. Two other stand-out performers were forward Mike Cola and guard Tom Stout, both of whom scored consistently in double figures. Steve Davey, Steve Helfrich, Steve Dixon, Jeff Nissle, Dan Lewis, and Rich DeRafelo also helped provide loyal Patriot fans with exciting Tuesday and Friday night entertainment.

Opponents No Match For Unbeaten Netmen

Dave Sletvold moves to the net to score a crucial point.

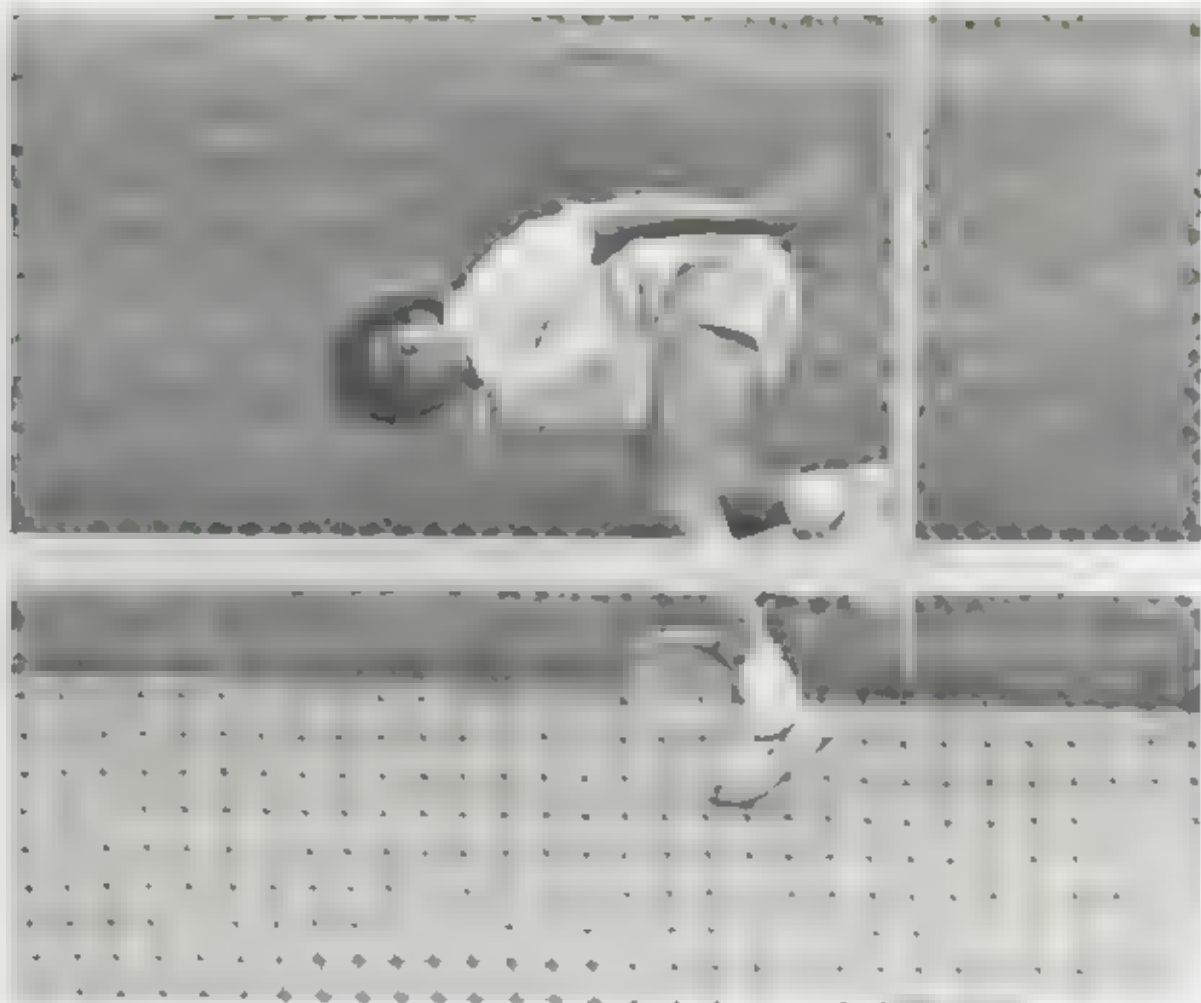

The 1977 boys' tennis team achieved the impossible. Mel Schucker's Patriot squad, made up of six underclassmen and just one senior, swept to the Ches-Mont League championship with an unbeaten 10-0 circuit record and was 14-0 overall. That's impressive enough in itself, but there's more: All seven members of the team were individually undefeated.

At the top of the list of outstanding GV netmen were the Riley brothers. Eric, the team captain, played first singles and Mark was the number two singles man. At the Ches-Mont League singles championship, the two faced each other across the net in the finals; Eric won the family battle to become the circuit champion and Mark was the runner-up. The twins teamed up for the doubles championship a few weeks later and not only conquered the Ches-Mont, but also placed fourth in District I play and reached the semi-final round of the state tournament.

But the Rileys weren't the only stars on the Great Valley squad. Matt Brown, who played third singles, Vince Roman and Dave Sletvold, the first doubles team, and Dan Delap and Bruce Houston, the second doubles pair, were also superb performers. It was an exciting season!

Lacrosse Cradles Ches-Mont Championship

Two new championship trophies were on exhibition in the GV display case following the spring season. The girls' lacrosse team also coasted to a first place finish. The 1977 season marked the fourth time in as many years that the Patriot stickgals established their supremacy in the Ches-Mont League. That streak appears even more impressive when it is considered that the head coaching position changed hands three times in that four year period; Roe Gentile was the new boss in 1977. Her team compiled a league mark of 8-1 and an overall 8-2 count.

The squad's success could not be traced directly to one or two players--everyone contributed. Standing out defensively were goalie and co-captain Anne Madarasz, who received All Ches-Mont honorable mention, Ann Voltz, named to the first team, and Kim Lowe, who won second team laurels. Betsy Wagner, Joan Aker, Karen Vail, and Chelle Mowery rounded out a stingy defense. Outstanding attackers included co-captain Donna Quay, Lynn Harper, and Lisa Romig, awarded All Ches-Mont second team, first team, and honorable mention status respectively. Marie Martino, Shari Marshall, and Maureen Finn merit mention for their offensive efforts.

Diamondmen Field Second Place Finish

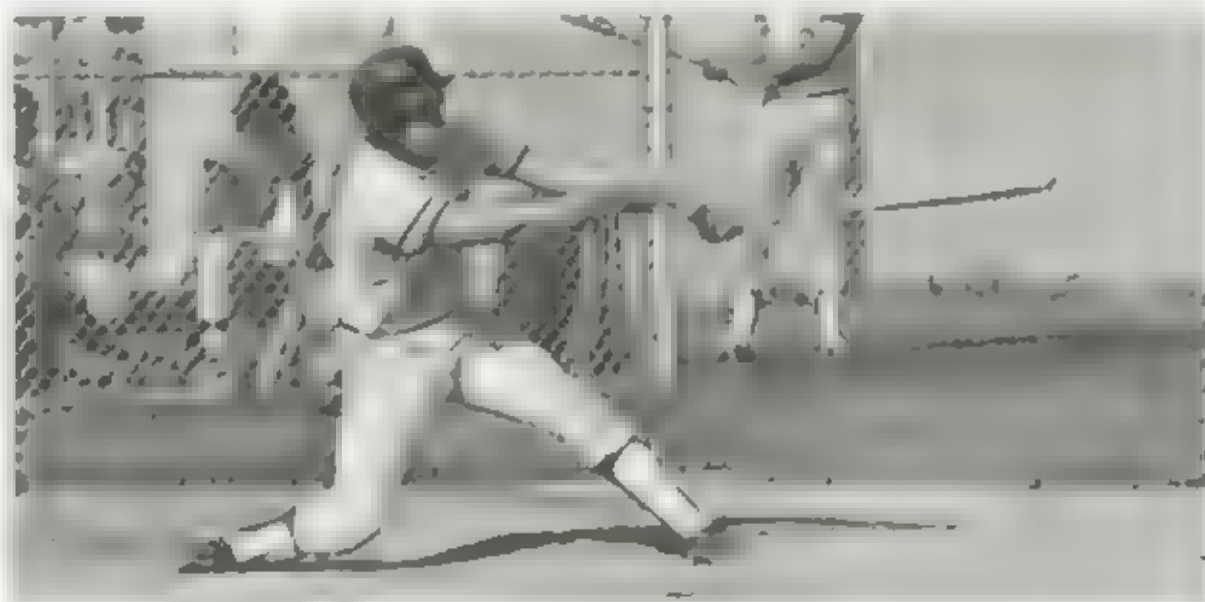

Brian Stackhouse holds his swing on a low pitch.

The 1977 baseball season was crammed with both success and frustration for Hal Honig's GV squad. The Patriot diamondmen led the Ches-Mont League's Southern Division throughout most of the year, but two late-season losses forced a play-off for the division title with the Downingtown Whippets. The Whippets won the game, so Great Valled ended up a close second with a 13-3 league record.

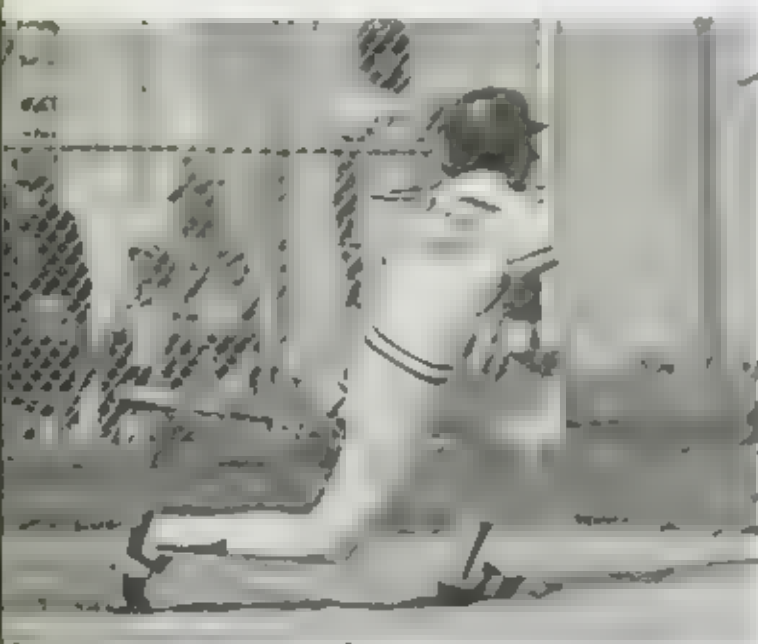

Again there were no stars in the Valley attack--a well-balanced team was the key to victory. The Patriot batters hit a hefty .305 for the season, with Randy Stone, co-captain Rich DeRafelo, Terry Skahan, and co-captain Steve Dixon sporting the top individual averages. Stone also led the pitching staff with a 7-3 count, while Mike Cola was 5-1, and DeRafelo was 3-0. Ken Liskey, Larry Barker, Brian Stackhouse, and Dave McDonnell were the other regulars in the line-up.

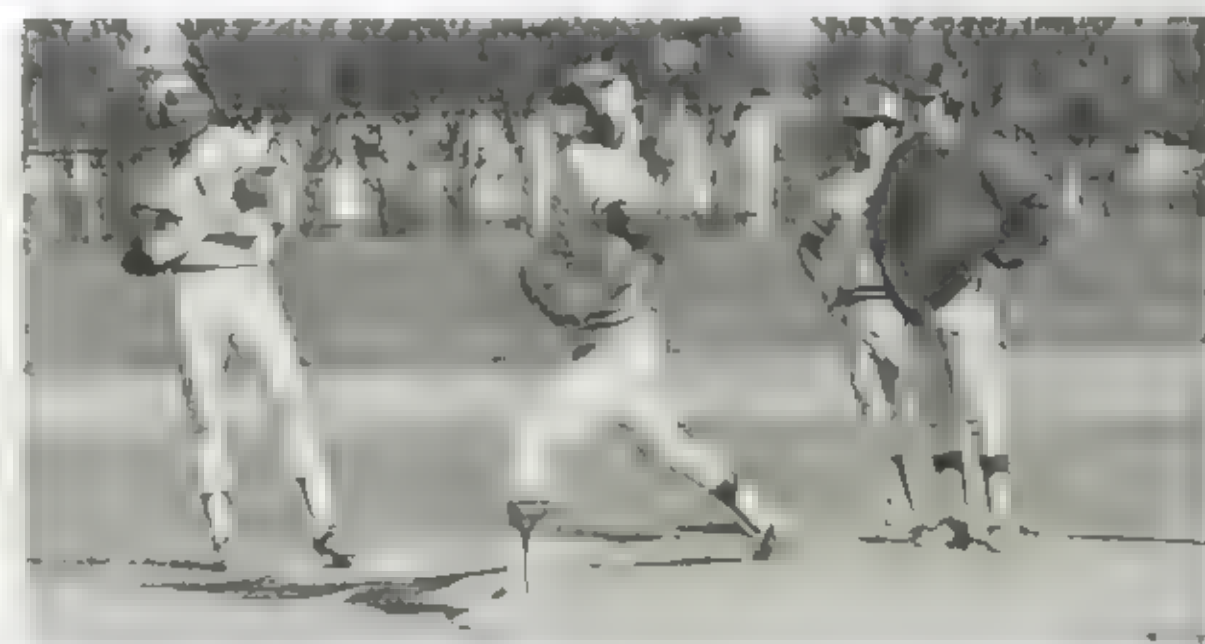

Steve Dixon tried to check, but the ball still hit his bat.

Girls' Tennis Serves Up Fine Season

The girls' tennis team was coached by energetic tennis enthusiast Meg Zarfes. Led by co-captains Amy Balzer and Judy Hart, the Patriots compiled a 6-4 record to notch fourth place in the Ches-Mont. Hart, Kathy Clark, and Beth Walker played first, second, and third singles respectively. Both the first doubles team of Nan Satterfield and Sarah Heilman and the second doubles team of Mary Jo Buonanno and Ann Klammer had winning records. As all seven of these players are underclassmen, the Pats can look forward to a fine future in girls' tennis.

Spring Track Overcomes Many Hurdles

The 1977 Great Valley spring track team compiled a 5-5 record to place sixth overall in the Ches-Mont League. But the squad also managed to pull a fifth place finish at the Championship Meet and earned a point and a half toward the All-Sports Trophy. Records do not tell the complete story on any team, and GV competed exceptionally well for an injury wrought team.

Led by Mike Diorka and assistant coaches Carl Stoltz and Tom Brophy, the Pats developed some fine talent. Captains Dan Skane and Bob Voorhees lent their abilities to a fine two mile relay team also comprised of Mark Marion and Ken Kapner, whom Jim Dewey replaced after an injury. Field captains Tom Warren, a consistent shot putter and discus man, and Tom Schellenger, a jumper, were also outstanding for the Patriots. Dom DiPaul was also notable for his contributions. Young talent was present on the Valley squad in the form of two freshmen. While Bob Gerwig developed into a winning hurdler, John Kellerman became an outstanding vaulter, setting a state record for freshmen with his 12'6" vault at the Championship Meet.

Congratulations should also be extended to Tom Warren, Kevin Dodson, Steve DiAntonio, and Ed Jackman for their efforts in District competition.

Inexperience Causes Softball Errors

Freshman catcher Honnie Gordon has the plate blocked and is ready to put the tag on a determined opponent.

The softball team was another of the Great Valley squads hurt by a lack of experience in 1976-77. Coach Sue Ronnerman didn't have a single senior in her line-up, as two juniors, six sophomores, and no less than five freshmen comprised the group of regulars who compiled a 2-8 record. While captain Gwen McKeon was the big bat with a blistering .448 average, Lorraine Fillippo, Karen Norris, and Sue Armstrong were the best fielders. These able players form the nucleus of a team that should be a real contender in the years ahead.

Lorraine Fillippo lays down a perfect bunt.

Sharon Helfrich is safe at second base.

Banquet Honors Outstanding Athletes

The Fifth Annual Varsity Club Banquet held at National Liberty on the first of June brought a fitting end to the 1976-77 sports seasons. A host of outstanding athletes were recognized by their coaches and applauded by parents, peers, and school officials. Performers in each sport were cited and presented watches adorned with the Ichabod emblem and the letters G. V. H. S. Plaques were presented to underclassmen winners and those special athletes who excelled in more than one area.

Those recognized for their contributions to the fall teams were Jim Dewey, Bob Voorhees, Rich DeRafelo, Ken Liskey, Steve Dixon, Tom Warren, O. J. Hoard, Steve Flather, Brett Donbach, Jim Howell, Lynn Harper, Joan Fosnacht, Ann Voltz, and Hank Johnson. Mark Shrader, Lynn Harper, Marie Martino, Margie Harris, Carol Parker, Ken Kapner, and Ken Liskey were cited for their efforts in the winter months. Spring awards went to Randy Stone, Rich DeRafelo, Steve Dixon, Anne Madarasz, Gwen McKeon, Eric Riley, Mark Riley, Amy Balzer, Dan Skane, and Tom Warren. Cheerleaders Xenia Politis, Carol Thomas, Janet Burns, and Sue Davies were also singled out, and Brian Stackhouse, Donna Quay, Steve Zucker, Betsy Wagner, Dom DiPaul, Ian Mansmann, Marie Martino, and Mike Cola earned special coaches' awards. Lynn Harper was lauded as the outstanding female performer and Ken Liskey and Rich DeRafelo shared the laurels as the outstanding male athletes. Congratulations go out to all!

Coach Herr extends congratulations to O. J. Hoard. O. J. was cited for his contributions to the football squad.

An ecstatic Lynn Harper expresses her joy over being named the outstanding female athlete as Mr. Como poses for the camera.

Coach Diorka was very much at home at the podium.

Tom Warren smiles broadly as he receives a spring track award.

Eric Riley strides to the front of the room to accept his watch.

Ken Kapner proudly displays the watch he won for winter track.

And To Those Behind The Scenes . . .

A concerned Mr. Como watches a close GV contest.

While the 1976-77 school year brought a justly large share of recognition to a handful of outstanding Great Valley athletes, there remained a vast number of participants in the Patriot program who were continually overlooked. It's time to give some long overdue credit to the members of the junior varsity and freshman squads who worked just as hard and sweated just as much as their varsity counterparts, yet never so much as had their names mentioned in the morning announcements. Frustrations are many and rewards few during those freshman and sophomore years; everyone seems to forget that good ninth grade and JV teams today usually mean good varsity teams tomorrow.

The contributions to Great Valley athletics of parents and fellow students are also too often ignored. Many thanks are owed to the mothers and fathers who listened patiently to endless complaints about coaches and teammates, referees and opponents, grueling practices and painful injuries. And what of the loyal parents and spirited students who spent all kinds of money, turned out in all kinds of weather, and sometimes endured all kinds of boredom in order to cheer on the Patriots on the playing field? Every athlete knows how much it means when the stands are full and the gym is echoing with shouts of encouragement.

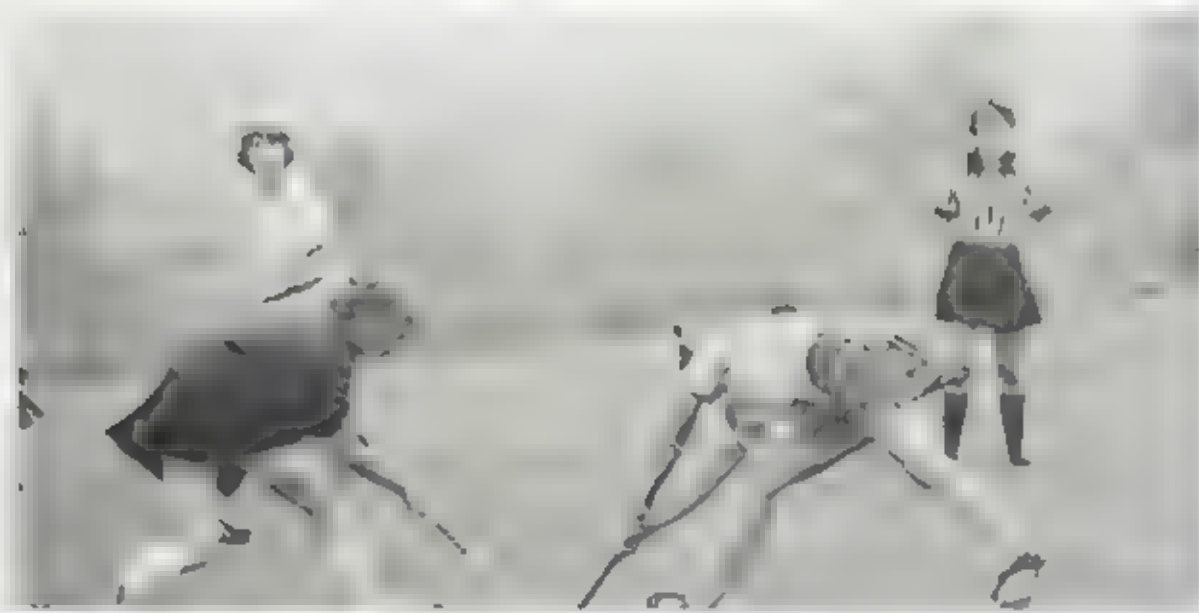

This tribute to the people behind the scenes who added to the success of the GV sports program in 1976-77 would not be complete without reference to the man who was in charge. What should be said about Mr. Al Como, the athletic director? In short, that his constant support was greatly appreciated by all.

Freshman basketball players warm up in an empty gym.

A pair of juniors cheer enthusiastically at a pep rally, showing their support for their school, their class, and the athletic teams.

1976-77 Sports Roundup

The 1976-77 sports seasons were among the most successful in Great Valley High School's 15 year history. Eleven of 15 varsity squads compiled winning records and four won Ches-Mont League titles. The cross country, girls' basketball, boys' tennis, and lacrosse teams each earned championship trophies. The Pats' crowning glory in 1976-77 came with the capture of the Ches-Mont's Boys' All-Sports Trophy. While the GV guys edged out Coatesville by 1/2 point, the Patriot gals lost to Downingtown by the same margin. It was, regardless, a banner year!

Homecoming Proves Victorious

On October 16th we hosted the Springfield Rams in our annual Homecoming Game. The game as well as the halftime activities proved to be very memorable.

As usual last minute problems sprung up everywhere. The seniors had more than half of their float to complete. The wind tore the sophomores float, The Boston Tea Party, which left them to the mercy of tape. To everyone's surprise the freshmen arrived with their float finished and unripped.

The queens and their floats made their debut at half-time. The parade was complete with everything from Paul Revere to an authentic conestoga wagon, which proved to emphasize this year's Bicentennial theme. The queens were escorted across the field to receive their flowers and the band marched off, bringing the half-time program to an end.

The football team returned to the field and finished the game with an outstanding score of 33-0.

Seniors Dominate Spirit Week

This year, the annual Spirit Week competition began on November 16th, and proved to be one of the most exciting and unforgettable.

Each class fought for the jug by competing in the customary competitions of white socks and sneakers day, blue and gray day, and the poster contest. The tricycle race, clothing drive and volleyball games were a few of the competitions added this year.

The seniors clinched the lead from the beginning, although the freshmen and sophomores were not far behind. The juniors held back waiting for a chance to make their "big" move. As the week progressed the seniors held fast to their lead by winning the clothing drive, blue and gray day and red, white and blue day. The freshmen and sophomores battled for second place while the juniors were still scheming for their "big" move.

When the classes entered the pep rally on the final day of competition the seniors were in a commanding lead. The sophomores made a desperate effort to overtake the seniors by winning the cheering and poster contests, but it was to no avail. The competition came to a close with the Class of '77 retaining an unblemished record by winning the Spirit Jug for the fourth straight year. The Class of '80 finished in second place with the Class of '79 close behind for third. The Class of '78 took fourth place and decided to save their "big" move for next year's competition.

Ice Hockey Places Fourth

The ice hockey team had an exciting season this year. The season began in early November and by the end of February they found themselves in the playoffs. The first playoff game, against a strong Radnor team, proved to be the most thrilling game of the season. The game ended in a sudden death overtime and a Great Valley 6-5 victory. Although they lost their next playoff game, they finished the season with a 10-7-1 record and a third place in the league.

The team was led by their Captain Scott Woolford and Assistants Larry Barker and Bob Gastwirth. Their managers were Dwayne Butts and Prissy Kettelle. Brian Meyers and Ted Whitely finished as high scorers with John Violante, Ted Whitely and Scott Woolford named as All-Stars.

Ski Club Enjoys The Cold Winter

After the autumn candle sale, hours of preparations and the nine hour bus ride, the Great Valley ski club arrived at their ultimate destination: Killington. For the following four days these fortunate people experienced the life of ski bums. The memories that were accumulated will never be forgotten- warming frostbitten toes over "broken legs", Mr. Stemple's late arrival, the unending snowfall, the days, the nights and even the food has a special place in our memory. It all came to an end upon departure, four o'clock on the 21st of February. Even our fearless chaperones Mr. Baker, Mrs. Skibbe, Ms. Gentile and Bill Hudome, could not endure the return trip without catching some shut eye. This year's officers were Brian Green, president; Jeff McQuiston, vice president; Sue Saunders, secretary; Bonnie McQuiston, treasurer.

Mrs. Miller and student director, John Raezer handled the direction. Mr. Kadyk directed the orchestra while the chorus was led by Mr. Sutcliffe. This year's producer was Mrs. Snyder.

G.V. Bands Receive Recognition

The true Mr. Roads comes through.

Phil Allen takes time out to wave.

The marching band had a busy year. They participated in the Malvern Halloween Parade, the halftime activities of the Eagle-Raiders football game, the Parade of Champions at Convention Hall and all of the Great Valley football games. They also earned ratings of outstanding and excellent for their performances at various cavalcades.

This year marked the First Annual Great Valley Cavalcade. After many hours of planning, scheduling and promotion there were problems: the lights arrived late and after being postponed by rain it was still muddy, never the less the event was a great success.

The marching band as well as the concert and jazz bands should be commended for their effort and the successful year they had.

Choir Cuts A Record Album

Mr. Sutcliffe spent many hours with the choir perfecting everything from pronunciation to pitch.

The choir, under the direction of Mr. Sutcliffe, had a good year. In addition to their seasonal concerts they also performed at Penncrest and Pequea Valley High Schools, General Wayne and Exton Square mall.

Passing the audition was nothing compared to the hours of practice, repetition and dedication that was demanded. This year they sang many songs a cappella which takes hard work. Their efforts were not wasted for in April they recorded a record album.

The chamber singers, which are a select group, also sang at concerts, malls and caroled at Christmas.

ASB Has A Productive Year

Kathy Milton, our fearless leader should be commended for a job well done

President Kathy Milton led the ASB through one of it's most productive years this year. She and her fellow officers Vice President, Jim Dewey; Treasurer, Steve Zucker; and Secretaries, Dawn Butler and Becky Kettelle organized a new studyhall system, the blood mobile visit, the student exchanges and more. Mr. White-lock, our new advisor, added much to the success of the year by giving of his time before, during, and after school.

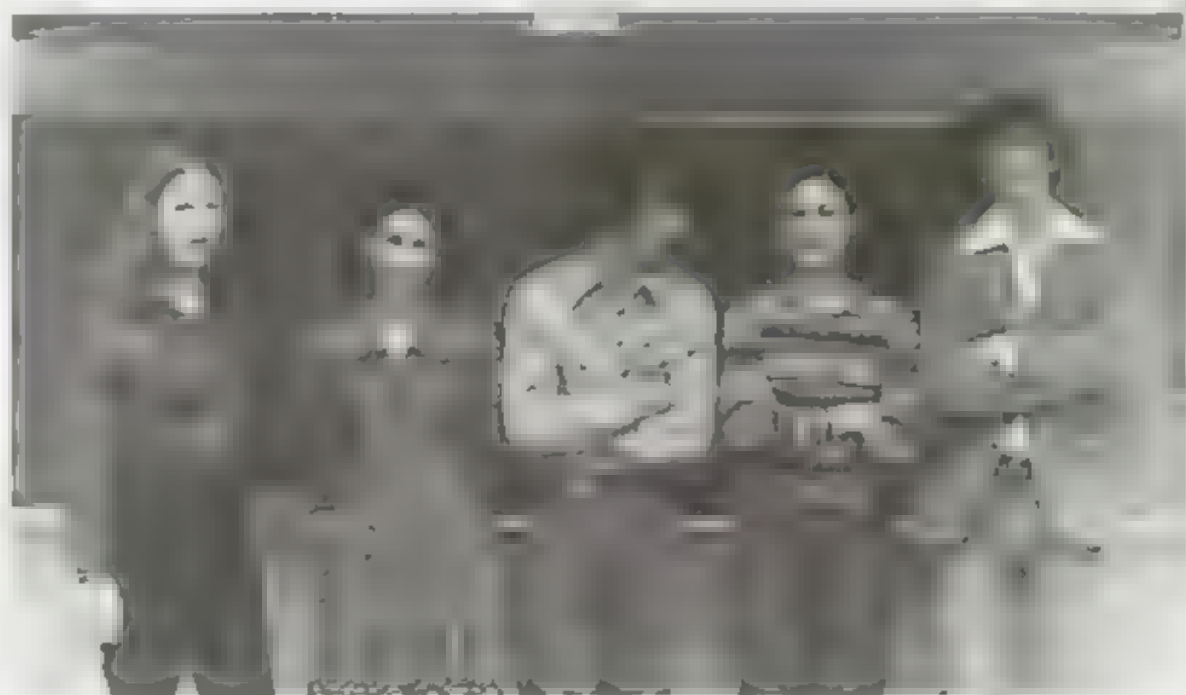

With the loss of the lounge, more time and effort was spent drawing up proposals and meeting with Dr. Esbrandt on such matters as open campus, longer lunches, open studyhalls, and ASB reports to be given in Social Studies classes. Although none of these were approved, the work was not useless but helped to better each proposal for possible reconsideration.

This year the regents were Student Activities, Neeta Moonka; Charities, Xenia Politis; Elections, Wayne Keyes; Curriculum, Janet Russell; and Publicity, Beth Darby.

In January elections were held and the results for the 1977-1978 term were President, Joan McLaughlin; Vice President, Mike Gordon; Treasurer, Mary Jo Buonanno; and Secretaries Laura Helker and Kim Lowe. With a little help from the departing officers they started off on the right path.

On February 22 the ASB organized the visit of the Red Cross Blood Mobile at Great Valley. Any student seventeen or older was eligible to donate blood and the turnout was better than expected. The event was not soon forgotten by those who participated but most were glad to have helped.

Pep Club Initiates Spirit

Katie Bechtold displays her pep at the Spirit week pep rally.

Pep Club has always been one of the most popular and most productive clubs at Great Valley. This year was no exception. Their first job was to organize the homecoming activities and, as if that wasn't enough work, less than a month later they had total responsibility of the Spirit Week competition. Both of these events demanded long hours of planning and both were highly successful.

They also sponsored one Road Rally which, after being postponed weekly for months, ended up with only three participating cars.

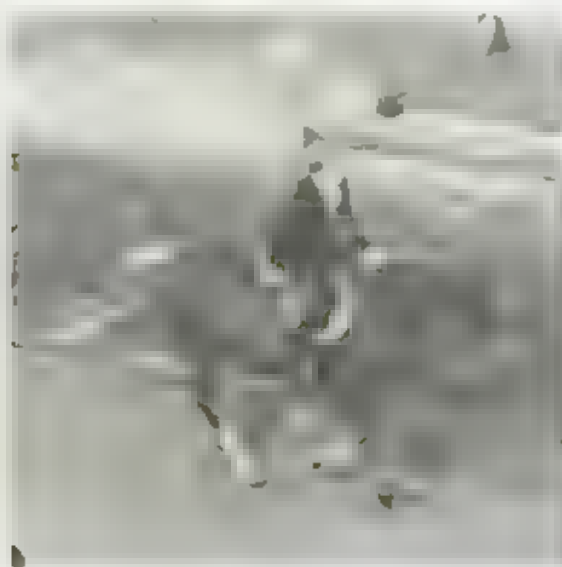

Miss Bowers and Mr. Erskine did a great job as sponsors, and no one would ever know it was their first year. Working with the sponsors were this years officers Mitzi Hudome, President; Mike Gordon, Vice President; Todd Fritsche, Treasurer; Katie Bechtold and Sue Davies, Secretaries.

Donkeys Conquer All

Meg Rector leads the seniors in with a smile.

The annual donkey basketball games were held on the 22nd of January. Throughout the periods of play, kicking, bucking and falling were not uncommon. At the end as the dust cleared, the juniors were the champs. But they could not maintain their momentum and lost to a powerful faculty squad.

The night provided great entertainment for the crowd as well as the participants. Who could help but laugh at the awkward attempts of the players and the totally uncooperative donkeys?

Interact Performs Many Services At G.V.

The 1976-77 Interact officers (L-R) Hank Johnson, Tom Warren, Wayne Keyes, and Mike Kelly organized the club for another successful year

The Interact Club of Great Valley is a service oriented club that is sponsored by the Exton-Frazer Rotary. With an active membership of around twenty students from ninth through twelfth grade, they participated in many activities. This year they parked cars at the Thanksgiving Day football game, guided lost parents on "Back to School" night, sponsored a child in Taiwan, officiated the entire elementary track meet held annually at Great Valley, and ushered for graduation and award ceremonies. This year the officers were Wayne Keyes, President; Mike Kelly, Vice President; Tom Warren, Secretary; and Hank Johnson, Treasurer.

Girls Leaders An Active Club

Janet Russel takes a turn at pumpkin carving.

The Girls Leaders club is one of the most active Great Valley clubs. Their members come from each class and participate in many activities.

This year their activities consisted of guiding parents on parents night and holding a pumpkin carving contest in the fall, ushering and serving refreshments at the student musical in the winter, and hosting a car wash and bake sale in the spring.

The club's sponsor, Mrs. Boettjer, helped to keep the club organized and functioning properly. Working with her were this year's officers Janet Russell, President; Lori Armstrong, Vice President; Barb Pearson, Assistant Vice; President; and Judy Adamovich, Treasurer.

Athletes Unite In Varsity Club

The Varsity Club was under the joint sponsorship of Mr. Honig and Miss Deitz, this year. Membership consists of sophomores, juniors and seniors who have earned a varsity letter in a varsity sport. Their annual spaghetti dinner, held in March, was very successful as students, faculty, parents and friends ate their fill. Another prominent moneymaker was the pretzel stand. They sold pretzels, candy and soda after school and during home athletic events. The main attraction of joining varsity club is to earn a varsity club jacket. A member is required to pay dues, work in the concession stand and work at the spaghetti dinner in order to earn a jacket. This year the officers were Danny Skane, president; Tom Horton, vice president; Marie Martino, treasurer, and Ann Volzt, secretary.

Mr. Honig, along with Miss Deitz, donated his time and effort to varsity club, making sure their activities ran smoothly.

Dan Skane, their president, was seen at all their activities and was a vital key to their success.

The shoes of these athletes felt the same agony the athletes did themselves.

NHS - A Select Group Of Students

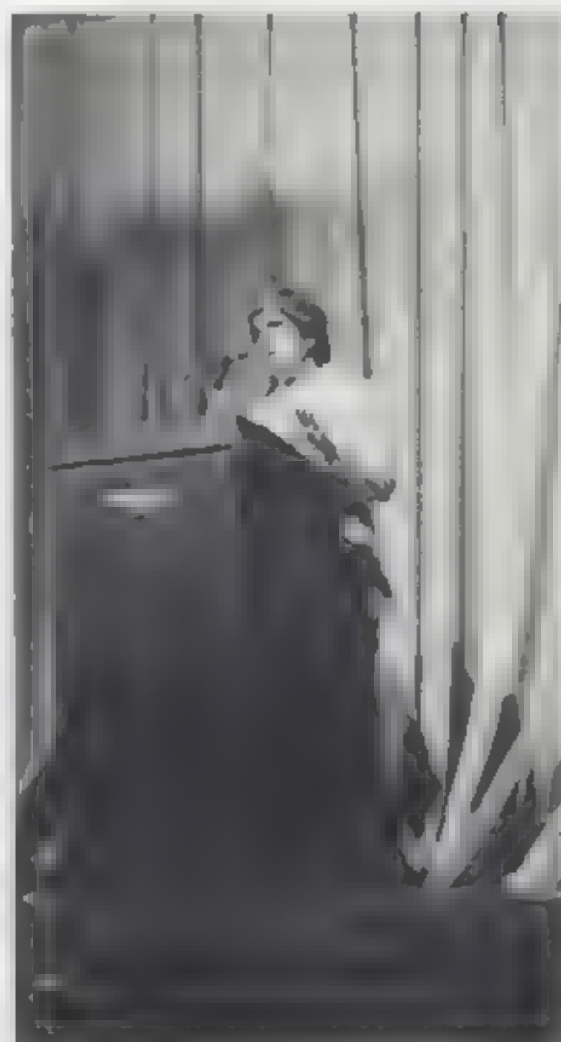

The National Honor Society is comprised of a select group of juniors and seniors chosen for their outstanding merits. There are two inductions held each year, under the supervision of their faculty sponsors Miss Dietz and Mr. Kase. Seniors with a 3.0 average are eligible in the fall and juniors with a 3.5 average in the spring. Members are selected by the faculty for their leadership, character, service, and scholarship. As well as the inductions, NHS sponsored a campus clean up, a car wash, and a bake sale. This year's officers were Tom Warren, president; Steve Zucker, vice president; Dave Rowland, treasurer; and Ann Madaras, secretary.

Drama Guild Performs "Frankenstein"

The Drama Guild, under the supervision of Mrs. Miller, worked hard this year to have a successful year, and they did! They were busy throughout the year with one production after the other. In the fall they put on "Frankenstein" and in the spring "Anything Goes". Mrs. Miller should be commended for another year of dedication which was the backbone to their success.

Dancing, singing, and comedy were combined to bring the 1920's atmosphere to life. The lead roles were played by Chuck Green as Tony, Karen Lombardo as Polly Browne and Jean VandenHengel as Madame Dubonnet. The director was Elizabeth Hummel, the Producer was Marjorie Mattern, while Deborah Adams was the choreographer.

The proceeds go into the scholarship fund to provide grants for students with financial need who maintained a high scholastic average.

And do they start!

IFC Promotes Friendship Between

Mrs. Bigler enjoys the results of their seemingly endless efforts as the day finally arrives and the exchange students are here.

Warren Lucinsky, from New Zealand, tries to teach Andre Carmago, Great Valley's exchange student from Brazil, the art of speech but Andre can't seem to get his mouth open.

The International Friendship Club members donate their time and money to promote friendship between Great Valley students and international exchange students. This year members welcomed Andre Jantana de Carmago as G. V.'s exchange student from Brazil; Mr. Arthur Grant from England, G. V.'s first exchange teacher; and Debi Page, who was in Brazil last year. Meanwhile, Debbie Crough has been in Bolivia for the 1976-77 school year.

I.F.C. members raised money in events including their annual hoagie sale in September, a bake sale in October, and a candy sale in December. However, the real work began with preparation for the International Weekend. Exchange students staying in the Philadelphia area were invited to spend April 21-24 at Great Valley. Several dedicated members spent hours after school writing letters, scheduling students for classes, and organizing activities for the weekend.

After much confusion and chaos, 26 exchange students representing 16 different countries arrived for dinner on Thursday, April 21. After a special performance by the G. V. Jazz Band, members serving as hosts brought the guests to their homes. Great Valley students got to meet the exchange students that Friday when they spoke to classes about their countries. The rest of the weekend was just as busy with activities ranging from bowling to seeing the faculty play to partying. Sunday was a sad day as the guests had to return to their American host families. All members agree that such a great weekend made the precious hours of work worthwhile. I.F.C. officers Margaret Johnson, president; Miriam Hermann, vice-president; Mariann Webster, secretary; and Lisa Fortunato, treasurer, as well as Mrs. Bigler, sponsor, and hard-working members deserve thanks for another successful weekend.

Warren Lucinsky, New Zealand, and Tom Klarin, Sweden, enjoy the weekend.

International Students

Karin Axelsson, Sweden, Miriam Herman, Marina Vlahovic, Yugoslavia, Tim Wilson, England, and Karsten Neilson, Denmark, gather before school to receive their schedules for the day. The exchange students met with classes and discussed the differences between their countries and the U.S.

Great Valley welcomed the exchange student with open arms and chatted, with them, with open minds.

Jose Lopes, Brazil, Erica Southworth, Karsten Neilson, Denmark, Kimo Abrahamsen, Chris Mann, Germany, and Donna Kraus met during the IFC banquet held Thursday night. The entertainment for the evening was donated by the Great Valley Jazz Band and everyone, including the band, had a very interesting and enjoyable evening.

Jose Lopes, Brazil, Marina Vlahovic, Yugoslavia, and Andre Carmago, Great Valley's exchange student from Brazil, seem over excited at the thought of getting their picture taken.

Musket Staff Survives Pressures,

Miss Ebert gives a smile of relief as we meet our first deadline.

The Musket Staff put a lot of time, effort and energy into the yearbook before you, the results of which are printed here.

Late nights, crisis meetings, the lack of help, the disaster of making a mistake, along with all the tension of meeting the deadlines, are all characteristics of yearbook editors, and this year was no exception. To add to our dilemma, our sponsor, Miss Ebert, resigned from her teaching post in December and for the remainder of the year all meetings had to be held at night or over the phone.

Looking back we hope that we have accomplished what we set out to, produce a quality yearbook that provides pictures, facts, memories and containing the events of our 1976-1977 highschool year.

Dawn Butler, Becky Kettelle and Marybeth McLean unanimously agree that yearbook is joke!

The Surveyor Distributed Free

The Surveyor, our school newspaper, provides the means for the students at Great Valley to express their views to the student body, faculty, and administration. Distributed free for the first time this year, the paper reached over 1500 people each month. Writing, typing, and laying out the pages took a lot of time and effort. Mr. Czeck, the sponsor, and Neeta Moonka, the editor in chief, worked closely to produce a quality paper. They continued with such features as the outstanding senior, faculty close up, senior class wills, letters to the editor, and sports coverage. They added a continuing feature on the drug scene at Great Valley. After the hours of work putting the paper together, making corrections and adding the finishing touches, it was always a relief when the paper was finally distributed. All accounted for, it was a difficult year and their job was very time consuming, but they pulled it through and came up with a consistently good paper.

Neeta Moonka hard at work

Mr. Czeck and Neeta Moonka with Mr. Czeck. With the small amount of help available, most of the layouts were left for these two. Hopefully next year there will be more interested students willing to participate, for it will make all the work go much more quickly.

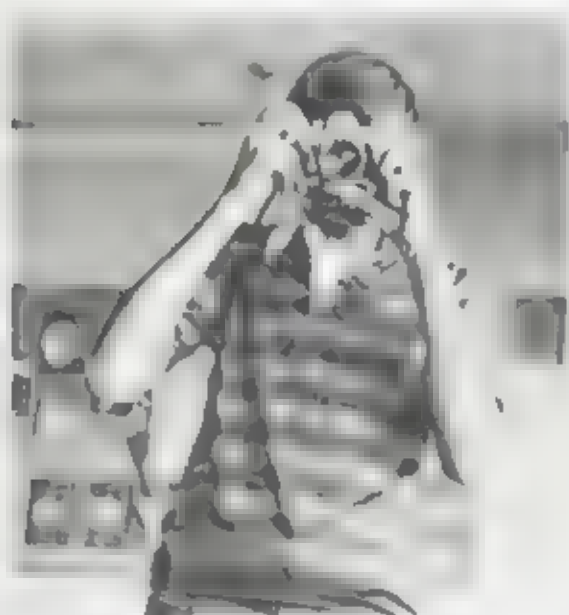

GVOTA And Photo Clubs Strive For Perfection

Great Valley on the Air has been broadcasting for over ten years and is continually improving. Along with their efforts in broadcasting they also do the morning announcements each day.

The photo club, led by Mr. Watson, spent this year working to improve their picture taking abilities and their developing skills. They photographed major events, club activities, faculty members, students and worked with the yearbook staff, supplying them with pictures.

SRB And SSAC Join Student Body And Administration

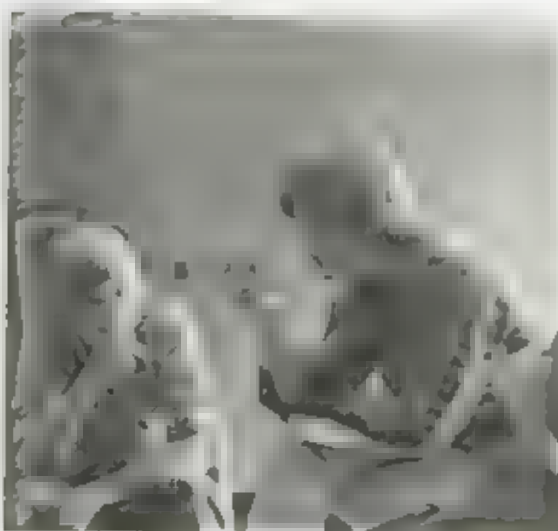

SRB Members: STANLEY, GILLESPIE, MILES, FARR, McLaughlin, STEPHENSON, VERNON, NOLAN, WILSON, JOHNSON, MILLER, BOWEN, McGUIRE, J. NELSON, SARAH MILLER, J. JOHNSON, MILLER, MILLER, MILLER, MILLER.

The Student Review Board spent the year reforming their function in the school. So next year, they will be listening to those students who feel that they were subject to unfair disciplinary action, as well as serving as a liason between students and administrators. For years the SRB has dealt with the problems of the student lounge, but now that the lounge is gone hopefully they can continue their effectiveness in a broader sense.

The Superintendent's Student Advisory Council meets with Dr. Tyson once a month. They discuss student attitudes and concerns which he then conveys to the School Board and Administrators. This council proves to be a very important link between the student body and School Board.

SSAC meets with Dr. Tyson in the library conference room.

Scott Woolford and Mike Ellison point out the problem.

Sarah Miller advertises for SRB

Dr. Tyson discusses student life with the SSAC. He is always willing to listen and even more willing to answer any questions in his "usual manner."

Science Clubs Enjoy Educational Experiences

Mr. Agostini puts that scientific mind to work, but his motherly instincts prevail.

The Ecology Club, under the sponsorship of Mr. Elhs, devoted most of their efforts to the preparation for their annual fair held at Exton Mall during Ecology Week in April. The fair was complete with demonstrations, films, information, tree sales and terrariums. Earlier in the year, the club spent a day at Hawk Mountain, hiking and picnicing, as well as visiting the bird sanctuary at the base of the mountain. The members also spent a lot of time in the greenhouse.

The Bio-Chem Club was busy this year with lectures, film nights, and their trip to the Washington Zoo. Mr. Augustini was this year's sponsor, everyone will agree that with his help their activities were very educational and beneficial.

BSU Hosts A Swinging Fashion Show

Mark Riley "Are you sure this is the right way to hold a tennis racket?"

The Black Student Union, one of the more active clubs, promotes black awareness among the student body. This year, they had their most successful year ever. They attributed their success to the large attendance at their Valentine's Day Dance and their annual Fashion Show. Feeling ambitious, they decided to add a dance routine to the fashion show which turned out to be more work than anticipated but well worth the extra effort. Nobody will forget the discussions over who should model with whom or the long hours of rehearsal. All their proceeds went to the scholarship fund which will support an outstanding senior in his college endeavors next year. The officers, Marcus Sweet, president; Joanne Perry, vice-president; and John Perry, treasurer, would like to give special thanks to Mr. Stoltz, who was a fantastic sponsor.

Eric Riley just can't seem to untangle those cuff links."

Sheila Wright and Steve Steele strut their stuff.

The infamous dance routine was a pleasant surprise for the crowd and the dancers really enjoyed giving them a show.

Cycle Club And Europe Tour Enjoy The Outdoors

Dan Delap and Skip Wentzel take down their new tents at the conclusion of a great weekend.

Oh, what a sight!

Dan Delap in "Planet of the Apes".

Twenty two fun-seeking individuals form the group known as the Great Valley Europe Tour. Adventure and pleasure have been their goals since they began in 1975. Their destination being Europe and their departure date July 5, 1977. They plan to backpack through England and Scotland for the first week then on to the continent of Europe for four more fun filled weeks. These 42 days that await these lucky individuals will most likely prove to be packed with adventure and exciting memories.

Many of these students are also members of the cycle club which provides weekend trips to prepare them for the summer ahead. Cycle Club not only hosted biking trips but also held a canoe trip and campout.

FBLA A Hard Working Business Club

The Future Business Leaders of America is an active club of students in the business department. This year they organized a dinner for area FBLA Clubs, a volleyball tournament for the March of Dimes, a stationary sale and a club picnic. Their officers Elaine Rowland, President; Amy Quay, Vice President; Donna Kraus, Treasurer, and Missy Rhodes, Secretary, worked with their sponsors Mrs. Fray and Mrs. Grande to make the year the success it was.

FBLA members (STANDING) Denise Iseninger, Mary Mathews, A. Moulden, Amy Quay, Karen Vail, Elaine Rowland, Debbie Pommerer, Kathy Recchilongo, Lisa Shirley, Sue Mentnack, (SITTING) Kate Beebe, Vicki Norcini, Marion Hopkins, Claudia Predo, Cindy Simmons, Diane Wilson, and Denise Mc Donough.

AFJROTC Members Look To The Future

Classroom activities are an exciting part of each day.

On sunny days the parking lot is not lonely.

The Air Force Junior Reserve Corps or "Aerospace" under the direction of Colonel Aaron Caplan and Sargeant Wm. Colon is a science oriented organization.

Outside of the classroom activities, which include everything from basic astronomy to the principles of aerospace concepts and management, there were field trips, dances, tag day, and good times. They traveled to Pittsburgh, the Smithsonian, which will always be remembered as the time they left Mr. Grant behind, and Willow Grove.

Through all of this the main objective of the AFJROTC is to give its members a sense of leadership and prepare them for the future.

Credit Is Due . .

There are various people who helped the Musket staff this past year and we would now like to thank them. First of all, the photographers; 1) Merin Studios did the Senior pictures and came out several times this year to take candid shots; 2) Mr. Joseph Martino (Marie's Dad) took and developed a lot of the pictures in the Sports section; 3) The Great Valley Photo Club, which consisted of only a select few who we could depend on for pictures; 4) Kathy Milton was one of our life-savers in the photo department. On quite a few occasions, we asked her to develop several rolls of film for the weekend; 5) Larry McDevitt of the Daily Local News staff provided us with a couple of pictures for our national coverage section.

Since our advisor left in mid-year, our organization began to falter. Mr. Crisi tried to get us settled and came up with a few ideas to save us. First, he asked Mr. Hickman, a former yearbook sponsor, to serve as a guide we could go to when we had troubles or questions. Mr. Hickman was good in this respect, but he had already inspired us to put out a good yearbook and we always knew he was behind us one hundred per cent.

We would also like to thank Neeta Moonka and Steve Pusey for organizing a second yearbook-selling campaign. They were pretty much successful in getting sales for almost an additional one hundred books. This was badly needed because our first campaign sold below the minimum number allowed to print a yearbook--for whatever reason, we are not positive.

Mrs. Garrison was a very big help to us. She provided us with details and information that could have never been found elsewhere. She was truly indispensable to us. We would also like to thank her for letting us hound her every day about pictures or proofs that had come in. She would smile and reply: "No, hon. Nothing's come in yet."

These were just a few of many people who helped and coped with us. There were also our teachers who put up with letting us out of their classes and our parents who allowed us to stay home for an important deadline or have staff meetings at home. All we can say is thank you all very much.
